Updates From the Library Director

I am proud to announce that Royal Oak Public Library has attained the Enhanced level of the QSAC standards. Created by the Library of Michigan, QSAC stands for Quality Service Audit Checklist and creates benchmarks for excellence in seven areas: Governance & Administration, Human Resources, Services, Collection Development, Technology, Facilities & Equipment, and Public Relations. Currently only six libraries including ROPL hold the Enhanced title. The library board and staff worked tirelessly to achieve this level, and it is quite an honor.

In September the staff honored the Friends and other volunteers with a special luncheon. We are so very appreciative of the efforts of our wonderful Friends group and all of our volunteers, and the staff expressed this gratitude with heartfelt speeches. The Friends president at the time, Margaret Blount, was in attendance and also spoke on behalf of the Friends. Lunch and cake were then served. I look forward to holding this event every year, as it is the least we can do for our Friends and volunteers who give so much to support the library.

The Friends of the Library were the beneficiaries of proceeds from the sales of city t-shirts in the fall. These shirts were on sale for about $20 and featured the pROud logo recently created by the city. All sales supported the Friends, and nearly $700 was raised. I was very grateful that the Friends were considered for this drive, and glad to see it was successful.

The Good Roads Movement in Michigan, 1888-1926

In 1890, the United States perhaps had the worst road system of any developed country in the world. Impassable three or four months a year due to muddy conditions, the balance of the early roads in America were dusty, rutted and disjointed, serving only very local functions.

What steps were taken? On Wednesday, March 18 at 7:00 pm, Jim Craft will discuss the importance of the bicycle, the Model T and the Liberty truck. Among other things he will explain why Van Dyke is named the Earle Memorial Highway, and the role American farmers played in the Good Roads Movement.

"One of my favorite times growing up was when my mother took us on our walk to the library. There were times when I really liked a book and didn't want to return it when it was due! Having the Friends Shop provides the opportunity to buy a book to keep or pass on to someone else. Volunteers make it possible to keep the Shop available for everyone. As a volunteer you get to meet and talk to some interesting people. In addition to that, I usually manage to find a book to buy for myself." ~~Sylvia Barra
