1994 Graduating
Kimball Knights

Choose Your Own Adventure. This is what your senior year is about. We've spent 4 years growing together as a class. We've made memories and friendships that will last a lifetime. Now it's time for each of the Kimball graduates of 1994 to begin their lives as individuals.

Today there are so many possibilities-so many adventures to choose from. From here on out we are basically on our own. We might be influenced by parents, friends or coaches, but the decisions we make regarding our lives should be ours only. Where we will be in ten years is up to us.

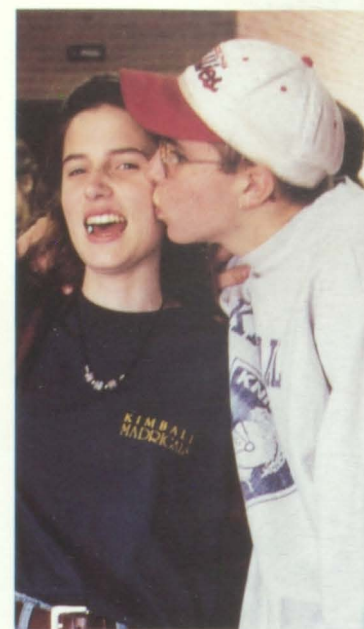

Jason Borchers listens intently in his drafting class.

When we look back to 1994 years from now, we will probably remember this year as one of the best of our lives. I know that I will never forget this class and its accomplishments. I think the lessons I've learned in high school I'll carry on throughout life. As we go our separate ways after graduation I wish all of you the best in choosing your own future and I can't wait to see you at the ten year reunion. Adios Seniors!

MEMORIES

A LOOK BACK AT THE GOOD TIMES.

Julie Lawson and April Holy are enjoying a great time, Homecoming night, at the Senior Reception.

When we walk out the door on the last day, what will we remember most about our high school years? What memories will stick with us in years to come? Some of us will remember the thrills of victory and the agonies of defeat. Ken Vogt exclaims, "Going to States for Wrestling was the best!" Bryn Gibson says, "Playing Troy, junior year, in basketball, is my best memory." Ironically, a few of us will remember the bad experiences instead of the good. Kim Reagan's most memorable moment was "RED ROVER"! Traci Garnett stated that her most memorable experience was, "Breaking my nose at softball tryouts!" Although all of the memories of events will stick with us momentarily, the lasting memories will be in the relationships that have been formed these past years! Sheri Fry notes, "I will remember my friends the most!" Just think, never again will we all be in one place at one time for this long; we will all be spread apart throughout the state, and throughout the country! We will all miss this place, and we will all have fond memories of our high school years!

I'M SO CONFUSED

SENIORS SPEAK OUT ABOUT THEIR POST-HIGH SCHOOL DILEMMAS

Senior Demir Muftari is getting ready for college, and said that colleges are always bound to "have more parties."

"My dream job would be to be the chairman of a major automotive company, if not, then a sports commentator," stated senior Didier Trinh.

With all of the pressures that accumulate during Senior year, it's hard to get it all under control and still think about college.

It is the turning point of the future, but people still have trouble making the transition from high school to college, but Demir Muftari points out one difference that, "There are a lot more parties."

Yet others still have their careers up in the air, like Tom Schoenberg, who just wants to be, "a Rastafarian," while friend Mark Hanna might be seen someday as a "Vagabond."

Some Seniors know exactly what they want to do with their lives. "I'm going to major in sanitation engineering at Michigan State," said Adam Taylor. Marty Strohm had this to say, "I'm going to start as a janitor at Cape Canaveral, hoping to aspire to the rank of astronaut within five years".

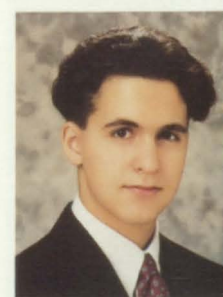

Kristen Barnett relayed to us that she, "wanted to be a groupie for the Bare-Naked Ladies."

Goals are hard to achieve, but if you follow them, you'll always be on the right track.

Looking to the future

TEN YEARS TO GROW ON MARRIED ... WITH THREE CHILDREN?

"Jason Ball and Chuck Spenceley show, from the smile upon their faces, that they are happy this is their senior year."

"Sly Matt Skwira won't have any problems in the fine future he has ahead of him"

The year 2004. Many of you may have never even thought of this year or what the significance of it is to our graduating class. It is not easy for people to look into the future and predict where they will be ten years from now, but that's what reunions are for.

Picture it, Royal Oak, 2004. You confidently stroll into what you thought used to be the Kimball cafeteria, and are swallowed into a mass of now becoming familiar faces.

Where does the class 1994 picture themselves after ten years in the "real world?" "Trying to recapture my youth coaching gymnastics in polyester leotards complete with ricrac, butterfly collars, and velour warm-up suits", said Alexanne Hendrick.

Marty Strohm was quick to add, "I'll be trading junk bonds illegally on Wall Street, suffering from ulcers as a result of my fifth wife." And the dream of all dreams is that of Kristen Barnett's, "I will be returning from the first half of my international tour as the opening act for Wayne Newton."

And what do they want people to think of them as the reunion progresses? "She still shops at Value Village?", Alexanne Hendrick replied. "Everyone will be overwhelmingly jealous of my fast car and my prize winning poodle," stated Marty Strohm. Still in the land of dreams Kristen Barnett once again added, "Boy, she sure does look good in a feathered boa!" Contributing to the conversation Ashley Reynolds stated, "They will all be thinking 'We never knew Claudia Schiffer went to Kimball' as I strut my stuff through the reunion."

Probably the last thing on the minds of seniors this year of graduation is our ten year reunion. But when that day finally rolls around we can all look at this and have a good chuckle.

OPEN HOUR DECISIONS

AN HOUR TO DO MANY THINGS

Amy Taylor spends a restful open hour at one of her favorite hang outs.

For many people the question of what one does on an open hour is puzzling but to the many people who have one it often becomes a challenge. "Having open third is great," exclaims Amy Taylor, "since it's right before my lunch hour I usually just go for a long lunch." However not all people have one right before lunch, some people have an open first or last hour. "I usually have to work after school so having fifth and sixth hour open is really good," remarks Sheila Bennett. For people who have an open hour during school the question of what to do often gets an interesting answer. Some people go home to relax while some people decide to have fun at one of the several open hours hangouts. Though relaxing is the choice of many, having fun is also a popular choice. Whether it is going up to Tanya's or going for a drive,

Good friends, Katie Silvio and Annie Ricci, express just how much they love having government class together.

Words are everywhere from signs to books, to little bubbles above your head. They are the most powerful way to express how you feel or what you like. That is why it is so important for everyone to be able to talk and write using words. However, for high school students sometimes what they say, is exactly the opposite of what they mean.

"Bevis and Butthead are my idols, uh uh, uh uh," Jake Brehmer admits. "Their style of heavy metal and ignorant speaking, attracted me to them."

Just another part of make believe, which is where a lot of phrases come from. "I like to make-up words

SENIORS TELL WHAT THEY REGRET

Niki Williams unsuccessfully tries to forget about the time she cooked hotdogs for the concession stand.

The class of 1994 had many accomplishments. They will take with them memories of good times. But what does the class of 1994 regret?

Kim Regan said, "I wish I hadn't played Red Rover in the courtyard?"

Jason McClelland would like to forget the time when an aggravated basketball fan punched Rich Soubliere's car window and got glass in Jason's eye.

"Crabwalking across the glass hall...", Ashley Reynolds admitted, "That's something I'd like to forget!"

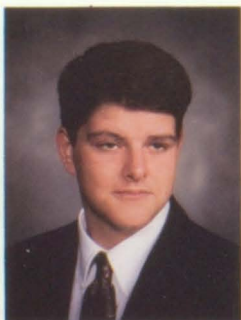

Matt Payne, Jenny Todd and Chris George all missed the same thing their senior year, "Powderpuff!"

Ruth Stone reminisces about her high school career.

Senior Class President Mona Hanna stated it best. "I regret nothing." The mistakes and embarrassing moments that seniors accumulated will give them the experience and wisdom they need in the future.

THE SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS OF 1994

The class of 1994 shines with spirit, athletic and intellectual ability and personality. President Mona Hanna, Vice President Amy Sopata, Secretary Courtney Castle and Treasurer Rachael Ayotte were responsible for class activities and fundraisers.

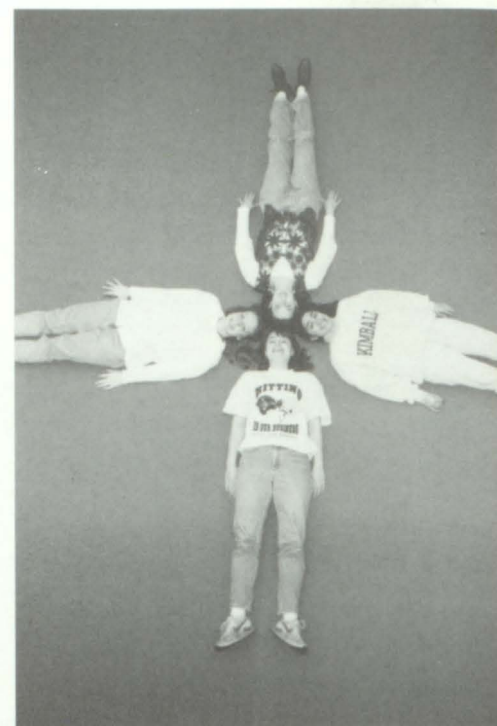

"Being a Senior Class Officer takes a lot of hard work and time," said Amy Sopata. The Officers organized activities such as Homecoming, a candy sale, dances, prom, cap and gown distribution, and car washes. Mona Hanna stated, "The officers of '94 made their mark by introducing the Senior Reception, the Fall-Cleanup fundraiser, and we even had a hypnotist come make a presentation for the class' entertainment." Hopefully future class officers will continue these successful events.

"Working as an officer was a great way to get to know my classmates," said Courtney Castle.

The officers made a good team, despite their lack of male influence. The graduating class gives a great big thank you to the officers for a job well done.

Brandi Mansfield and Corey Reiser share more than just similar taste in clothing. They are Kimball's CUTEST COUPLE.

The Class of '94 is Bryn Gibson's and Golden Boy Dan Polsgrove's biggest fan. Their multitude of talents won them yet another award, MOST ATHLETIC.

Looking for Katie Silvio or Julian Sula: These ART SMART students are most likely to be found creating a masterpiece.

Andrea Ray and Chris Ahn always let it be known who's on their minds. These FLIRTATIOUS FIENDS have turned Kimball into a soap opera.

The voices of Matt Payne and Sarah Roldan echo throughout the halls of Kimball. It's no doubt they are '94's. MOST ASSERTIVE students.

It's not hard to spot them across a crowded gym. Adam Taylor and Amy Forti shine with school spirit as the KNIGHTS OF '94.

You are sure to have a laugh when around CLASS CLOWNS Aland Hoermann and Amy Brunner.

The answer is Elin Warn and Didier Trinh. The question? Who are the two seniors MOST LIKELY TO APPEAR ON JEOPARDY?

PEOPLE

The uniqueness and individuality expressed at Kimball are qualities that have helped to mold Kimball into the school that it is. Here at Kimball, we are not confined by the restrictions of some private school. Instead we are given enough freedom to become free-thinking individuals.

"At Kimball, everyone has a place. We are different because we are a well-rounded group, and most of us care about our education," says junior Renee Dalley. In the past, being different has always been looked down on, but here at Kimball there are so many activities and interests that being different has now become cool.

The whole Kimball experience also enables us to grow as persons. Annelie Mayer, a German exchange student this year, says that because of being at Kimball she has been able "to talk to more people and become more outgoing." Kimball has also given Annelie more advantages to be involved in school spirit activities and sports. Advantages are what Kimball is all about. Giving students the best possible education, but also providing them with an environment that encourages education has become a Kimball tradition.

Where Do They Long To Go?

Juniors- Their Dreams and Wishes

Everyone has a dream vacation. For some of us, it's going to a popular place like Jamaica, but for others, dream vacations are farther away and a bit more unusual. "I'd take a tour of the different styles of mailboxes in Czechoslovakia," Kelly Proctor opined. Another exotic spot mentioned was the middle east. "Go to Egypt on an archaeological expedition to excavate ruins-especially pyramids!" exclaimed Sarika Bhatnagar. As for our good ol' U.S. of A., "I'd go to the Blackfoot river in Montana and fly-fish for a week," decided Dawn Gibson. "I'd love to go to Hawaii because I've never been there before," Amy Woodward said. Although there are just as many concepts of perfect vacations as there are juniors here at Kimball, Lisa Howard agreed with David Rumsey when he proclaimed that his dream vacation would be "To boldly go where no man has gone before."

What is everyone in the junior class listening to? Nathan Sjogren says, "I listen to bands like Quicksand and sometimes reggae of Bob Marley." Many students like Michelle Kent and Angie Wagstaff agree that "Pearl Jam" is their favorite music group, while Alex Wright likes listening to the lyrics of his favorite group "Faith No More". "There is nothing better than getting chills down your spine while listening to Faith No More," says Alex. "Kiss me right here on my tattoo," is Meghan Schalm's favorite lyric from the group "The Red Hot Chili Peppers."

Tuning into their favorite music, juniors listen to everything from modern rock to country. While listening to the radio or one's favorite CD, nothing surpasses seeing one's favorite band live. "Duran Duran was the best concert ever," exclaims Sharon Belfi, who got to see her favorite music group at the end of this past summer!

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Juniors Seth Kollins, Pat Garcia and Steve Drake reminisce and do their homework during their open hours.

How Do You Get Your Nickname?

Teachers use first and last names to identify students. But what about fellow students calling and talking to friends in the hallway? Not all of them are called by their original names. "My nickname is Big A. This girl knew me by that name from my EX-boyfriend. It's stuck with me ever since then," explained Amanda Gross. Some people are given single letter nicknames just for fun. For example Erin Conrad's nickname is E. "People just called me E for short during softball season, basically because they were too lazy to say Erin! I've had this nickname since the sixth grade." Nicknames are based on a person's first or last name. "My nickname is Fitz because my name is too long to say. It's informal and friendly and it gives me a sense of togetherness and I like it." Explains Kristen Fitzpatrick. A nickname isn't just a name, it's a valuable part of school friendships.

Embarrassing Moments

KIM- BALL JUNIORS TELL ALL

Almost everyone has had that traumatic experience. "Now we can just look back and laugh on what happened," states junior Alissa Szarek.

Chris Schulte and Mark Doyle, both juniors, reveal an embarrassing moment. "We were at Red Oaks and we started yelling to these girls, they turned around, one of them was the girl Chris was seeing."

Junior Melanie Marquard states, "The announcements came on for softball and instead of saying I had a nice bust, they said I had a nice bust."

"I've had a lot of embarrassing moments," states Sandra Heikkinen, junior, "I once backed into a pole at Little Caesars, the worst part about it was that everyone was watching me."

Jackie Sauter didn't have a problem revealing her embarrassing moment to us, because she can just laugh about it now. "I got kicked out of the girls bathroom when I was little because they thought I was a boy."

The Juniors are thanked for sharing their embarrassing moments!

You Wear It Well

P

icture it, the first day of school and you don't know what to wear. Finally you decide, but, you have no jewelry or hats to match. It's every junior's nightmare. "I hate not wearing a hat," Junior Jay Thomson admits, "It's almost like it's a part of me, it's who I am."

Juniors Individualize While Accessorize

Accessories have a wide variety of styles. They range anywhere from beaded necklaces to cowboy boots, both are extremely popular. Also among the top ten are large belts and class rings. Varsity jackets are often seen on juniors. Many juniors also sport necklaces with crosses, only to follow the Great Nate(Shotwell).

Brenda Lantz explains it best, "My hair is so out of control, I have to have that scrunchie around my wrist!"

95 is Alive!

Sarah Palmer, Alissa Szarek, Rikki Sarmiento, Pat Evoe, and Pat Garcia are proud of Flounder, their class float.

We all pull together, we get along, and we have fun.” This is how Alissa Szarek describes the junior class. She especially noticed this at her house, where both her junior and sophomore floats were built. Alissa also attends many school functions and is a member of the choir.

Juniors Glow with Light of Class Spirit

Jeff Weeks is another happy-go-lucky eleventh-grader. He plays on the soccer and basketball teams and he always supports his fellow athletes.

“I love that so many juniors are involved,” he says, “our teams are exciting to watch. I learned from seniors like Al Hoermann how to be a superfan.”

Who is a better example of spirit than a cheerleader? Tami McKee has cheered since birth-from St. Dennis to two years on Kimball J.V. and now as a member of the varsity squad. She also plays soccer for Kimball. Whether she’s on the sidelines or in the halls, Tami’s smile and enthusiasm inspire and encourage everyone she meets.

When asked what he liked most about KHS, Dave Derkevorkian replied, “It has to be the camaraderie and involvement-especially in the junior class.” Dave also loves the fans and the excitement of the crowd at games. Basketball is his most exciting sport to watch at Kimball.

Kris Midlam captures junior life at its finest.

Yesterday's News

a s a freshman, everything is different from the year before; a new building, more faces and new teachers. But this time is gone in one short year and everyone returns in the fall as a sophomore. "Now if you see a face you don't know, you don't have to feel intimidated because you know they're younger than you," is how Kellie Conlin feels about being a sophomore. She also thinks, along with Dan Glazer that more people attend J.V. sports than freshmen sports.

Sophomores Settle In

Not everyone thinks that this year is much different though. Stewart Sutherland said that no one really treated him like a "freshman" anyway. He felt that it was no big deal. "It's actually kind of boring because we're already used to it." Nicole Hanna shares some of this feeling even though she likes knowing most of the people. A quote by Cassie Simmons sums up all the feelings, "I just take them as they come. They're all pretty cool."

Break Loose!

fter a long hard week of school work, everyone looks forward to that little break we know as a weekend: from 3:00 p.m. Friday to 8:00 a.m. Monday. The sophomores really know how to handle a weekend when it comes to going places and getting there. On Friday when the school bell rings, final plans are made and set into action.

Cassie Simons and Kristianna Catanese said that they liked to "go to parties and hangout with their friends." Katie Fisher agreed, but also said she "liked to drive around town and goof-off with Jean Petts."

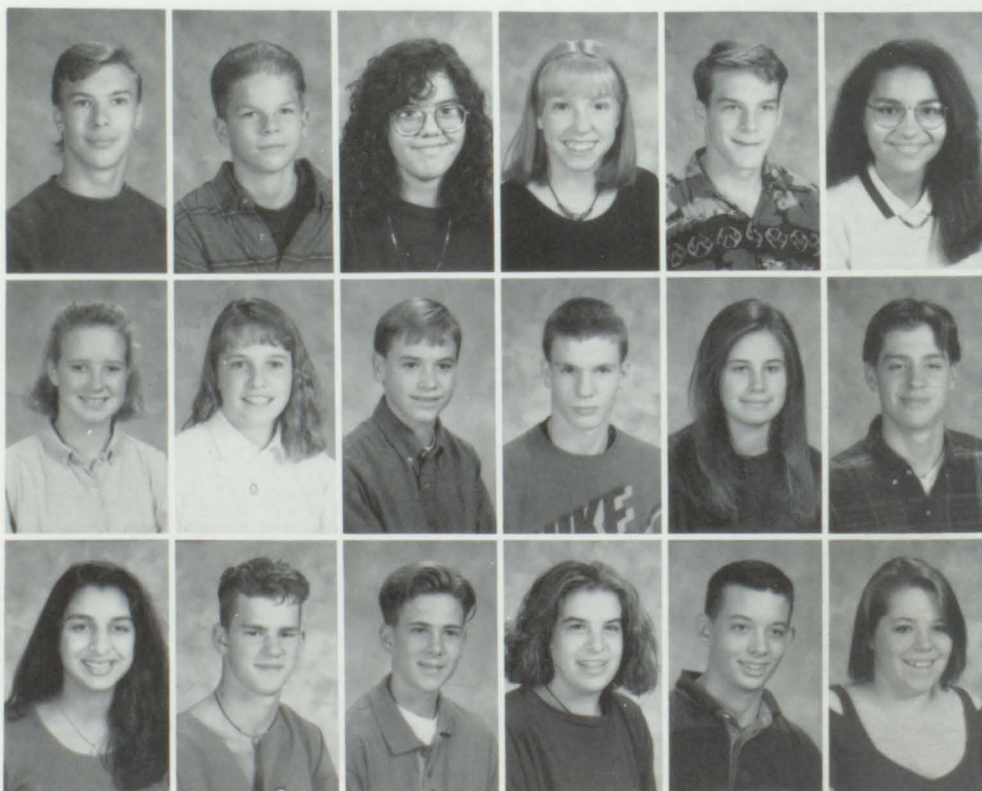

Whether at a friend's house or out painting the town, one can be certain to find the sophomores out having fun, and using those precious few days of the weekend to loosen up and release the extra energy that's been building up inside.

IDOLS

Sophomores Cassie Simmons and Nicole Malane role model each other. "There's nothing like idolizing your best friend, or vice versa."

dols or role models today are an important need to many sophomores. They try to mold themselves after them, such as maybe wearing their hair the same way, or their clothing, or just plain acting like them or borrowing their actions.

Who's Your Role Model?

Many students here at Kimball High School have their own personal role models. Some want to be football, basketball or hockey stars. While others want to be financial tycoons. "The person I most want to be like is Donald Trump, now that guy has power", stated Andrew Geisler. Others aspire to be more down to earth such as Adam Conrad, "I envy and look up to my mom, she can hold down a full time job and raise my sister and I by herself." Although times change so do some of the role models, some students want to be Albert Einstein, Alexander Graham Bell or Marilyn Monroe, while others aspire to be like Tim Allen, Dr. Dre or Cindy Crawford there will always be a role model or idol for someone.

hen sophomores aren't attending classes, they like to keep busy with their after school sports, clubs, and jobs. It takes a lot of effort to work and go to school simultaneously, but many students manage. Students like LaQuae Stafford only work weekends. "I work at McDonalds. During the school year, I only work weekends and Fridays." Nick Gardiner said, "I work at Red Run Golf Club and enjoy it there." Shannon Madeja works with her stepfather's landscaping company. "I've been there for about a year and I like it and I'm saving up for college." If you cannot find a job don't feel alone. "I apply but they don't call back," said Melanie Schnell. Justin Folk said "I try to keep busy with sports and I mooch off my parents if I need the money." While sophomores are in high school, they want to make extra money, but are also searching for a good education.

Sophomores Adore Cunch

Some of the lucky sophomores out there get to go out to lunch, but only a selected few, because not all sophomores drive. But don't despair, "Eating in the cafeteria is not that bad" says Jillian Whipple, "I only go out if I am asked by my older friends and if I don't, I eat the tasty pizza in the cafeteria." Mark Engleberts disagrees, "I go to Taco Bell almost everyday, and if I am lucky I get a ride." Antoine Taylor replied, "I do whatever Mark does." Fast food is the thing to do for Lindsay Urick, "I go out with my friends sometimes and it is usually to McDonalds, I don't like the cafeteria food, but if I have to eat there I guess I have to." Two not so lucky sophomores, Katie Green and Kristen Latkowski say, "I eat in the cafeteria everyday."

For all the fortunate sophomores who have the opportunity to eat outside of the cafeteria, watch out Taco Bell, here they come.

The Wonder Years

Marc Smith, Kelly Garnett, and Larissa Heap laugh together as they remember the days of Garfield comics and Mr. Men books.

hink back, sophomores, to the days of past, when building blocks and finger paint were the national pastime. Back to when there were crossing guards and recess.

"I was a nerd in elementary school. I used to hang out with all the other nerds, and they used to call me Little Scotty Masterson. I remember one day for show and tell, I brought in my mechanical dog, Hortence. He would walk around, stop, and flip over. Everyone was jealous of my little orange dog," Scott Masterson said with a grin.

"When I was in the sixth grade, we had a program where sixth graders were paired up with kids in the first grade. My partner was a little red-haired boy who would always pinch my butt and pee on the playground," exclaimed Kelly Hurl.

When all is said and done, elementary school wasn't all that bad. It was a time to learn and to grow, and it was a time we will never forget.

The Days of Playskool and Crayola

That Awe-ful Year

t

he first year in high school, that time we all yearn for and dread. Here's some thoughtful advice for next year's freshmen: "Maintain a certain balance between conformity and individuality," advised Jeff Smith. Jenny Fry's advice was shorter. "Be yourself!" On an upbeat note, Shaun Ervin said, "Everything you've heard about being teased as a freshman is not true." Others had things to say about our Kimball schoolhouse. "Bring a map!" stressed Pat McLeod. His advice would help one follow Angie Gagnon's, "Don't get lost!" Katie McLaughlin's helpful hint was, "Say hi to lots of people." "Just think positively about coming into ninth grade, and everything will fall into place," John Kapola said. Perhaps if you heeded that, Jill Frydlewicz's could come easier. "Always keep a smile on your face!" And at all times, everyone remember Becky Kinney's advice, "Have fun!"

In The Beginning

Freshmen Explain Their First Day

he first day of school holds many different experiences for everyone, especially for the freshmen. It's a new beginning and can be anything from intimidating to exciting. A new, larger building, new classes, and, of course, new faces, the anticipation of the first day can seem very stressful.

"The first day I was nervous at first, but I made so many new friends that it turned out great!" said Stephen May.

Unfortunately, not everyone had the same positive experiences to speak of. Many found the first day confusing and had tales to tell about getting lost.

"I went to my second hour class and sat down but that wasn't the room I was suppose to be in! I was so embarrassed," replied Amber Steward.

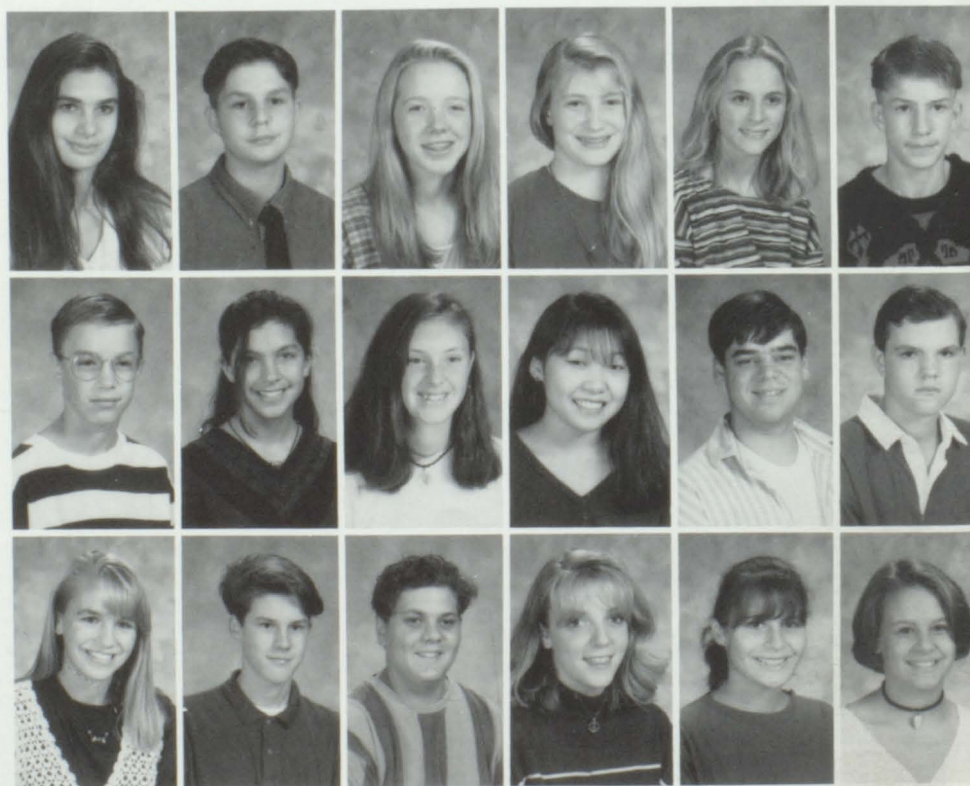

"So I wouldn't get lost, I memorized the school map," Janelle Klemz admitted.

The toughest part is now over. The next three years will fly by. Some advice, sit back and enjoy!

Favorite Holidays?

Freshman Christy Osborne can't wait for the fun to start during Easter Break. "I look forward to spending the holiday season with my family and friends."

Frosh talk about Favorite Holidays

hroughout the year there were many things on Kimball High School students minds; weekends, homecoming, homework, final exams, and friends. One of the most popular topics was holidays. Christmas, considered to be the busiest holiday, was also a favorite for the class of 1997. My favorite Holiday-Christmas!" said freshman Todd Herzig. Why? "Because you have the most vacation days". Easter, which falls on spring break, is another holiday to which students look forward to. "I look forward to Easter Break because it's more fun than Christmas" said Christy Osborne. Some students eagerly await a day that everyone has once a year, their birthday. On this day, many students receive presents and have oodles of fun. "My favorite holiday is my birthday", said Sarah McCormick. "I get what I want. I only wish my birthday happened once a week."

Kimball's Freshmen Experience a Change

Things have changed for freshmen. A new school and new friends are just a few. Here's what the freshmen have to say.

"The day seems to go by a lot faster and this place is a lot bigger," states Heidi Showers.

"I like all of the people," Jordon Trombley said, "I'm going to school with many people whom I've known for awhile. I also like all of the classes and the fact that Kimball offers us so many sports."

"The pool is cool, so is having an open campus," Jackie Montano exclaims.

John Roggenbuck seriously adds, "I like all of the academics."

"When you get to high school you take on more responsibility," said freshman Jennifer Theobald. "I like the fact that I get to see all my friends I left in grade school."

As we continue to progress through Kimball we will recognize many other changes.

of being

You may have already won ten million dollars!” Most families get about twenty envelopes saying that every month but most disregard them. Let’s say that one Kimball family took the time to mail one back in and actually won. There’s absolutely no doubt what freshman Kate Vickers would do if Ed McMahon showed up at her doorstep with a ten million dollar check. “I would take it, what other choice is there,” she proudly stated. “I’d probably go crazy,” Rebekah Trivillino said. Patricia McKee would react in much the same manner. “I’d definitely say, ‘Oh, my God!’ Then I’d buy a new car. I’d give most of it to Tami and the rest would go in the bank,” she replied. Scott Couzens would also spend his winnings on his loved ones. “I’d help out my parents and everyone I know,” he said after much thought. To quote the infamous Robin Leach “champaign wishes and caviar dreams.”

“You can tell who the freshmen are.” This is how Junior Christina Beutel explains many curious, self-conscious ninth graders.

How do freshmen feel toward upperclassmen?

Jason Thompson sees most juniors and seniors as friendly folks, but he still feels pangs of fear during the long trek through the upper glass hall.

Dana McLaughlin isn't sure what she thinks. Sometimes older students are intimidating, but there are many friendly faces to comfort her. “Most upperclassmen I meet are sympathetic and nice.”

How did the big kids feel as froshies?

“Once I saw people driving, I couldn't wait to get my license,” said Junior Andrea Bowers.

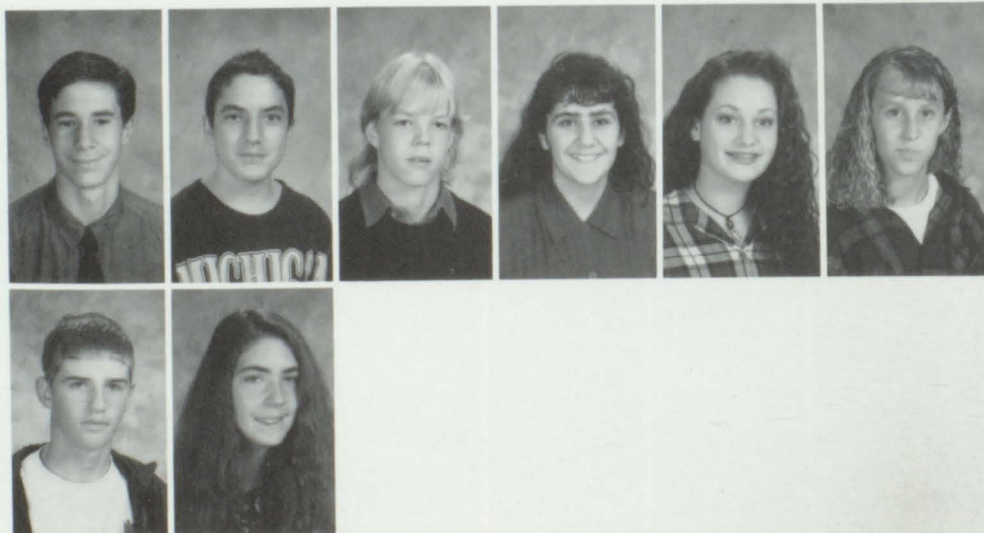

“Freshman year was the best-everything was new and there was nothing to worry about,” said Junior Kristi FitzPatrick.

Chris George doesn't know many freshmen, but he admits, “Gretchen Taylor and Albiona Muftari are the freshmen I like most.”

So, if you're counting the days until you're finally an upperclassman so you can humiliate your little freshman brother and all his friends, don't hold your breath-freshman year doesn't have to be as bad as you think.

Kimball offers a wide variety of organizations, clubs and athletics for students to get involved in. Many people judge a school only by these factors. However, education is the primary reason Kimball exists and it is also Kimball's greatest asset. Anne Geisler said, "I am confident that the education I received at Kimball will help me at college." Stacy Jeffery stated "My Kimball education helped me decide what I want to do next year. The main goal of the Kimball academic program is to provide as much useful information as possible to students to help enrich their lives.

A good education is essential to a successful future. Studying and learning to be the best one can be insures success. Kimball's academic program and its fine teachers can help a student find a place in the world and will get each one off in the right direction in life. Senior Corey Reiser stated, "The teachers here at Kimball try to give special attention to students who need it." This help from teachers is a very essential part of education.

Education is a personal decision and responsibility. Whether a student chooses to take advantage of Kimball's education program or not is his or her own decision. Choosing education can be a lifelong adventure that will benefit students far into the future.

The Leaders of Kimball

Administrators and Counselors

Our administrators have the important jobs of organizing the employees, overseeing finances, and deciding what's best for the student body. This hardworking team is headed by Mr. Neville, our principal. He has the help of Mr. Foster and Mr. Light, our assistant principals, and the supervision of Mr. Nichols, the superintendent. A new member of the Kimball administrative staff this year is Mr. Smith, the attendance officer. However, even as we are welcoming him, we must say farewell to another. Mr. Foster will be retiring this year — we're all wishing him good luck in his future.

The counselors of Kimball fulfill an important role as well. They're the people students can go to with their problems.

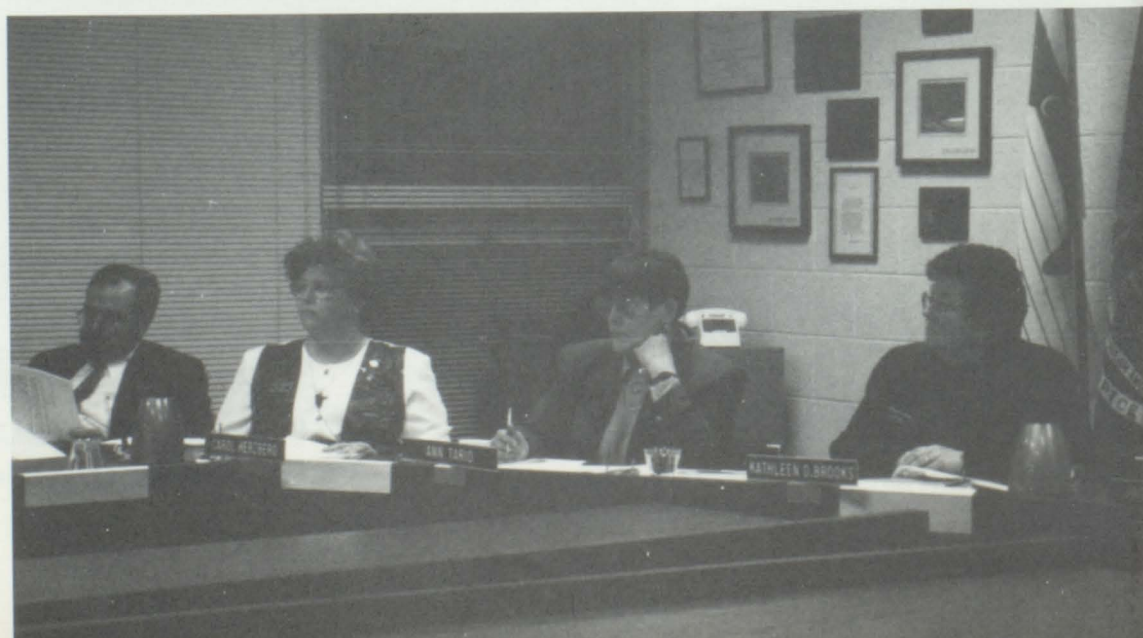

Whenever students need someone to listen to them, they make an appointment with Mrs. Brown, Mr. Goulait, Mrs. Piantedosi, Mrs. Keefe or Mr. Spurgeon. They'll be assured of a sympathetic listener and good advice. Hopefully, Kimball students will be able to enjoy the benefit of our wonderful administrative staff and counselors for many years to come!

Mr. Foster retired this year after many years as assistant principal.

GUIDES ON THE SIDE

"It's a way to make a difference," that's how teaching has been described. Teachers are given the gift of being able to make us believe we can succeed. Teachers have a way of knowing when and why we are struggling, and how to help us. Teachers know when we are acting up, even if their backs are turned. They are able to see through the backs of their heads. In some ways, teachers are like parents. They educate us. They help in molding us into who we are, and sometimes, we will make a special connection with a certain teacher; a special teacher that instills the will to learn, and the courage to succeed in life. Teachers are our friends, too. They take their own free time out to listen to our problems. They are always ready to console or just listen. At Kimball, we have been given an abundance of these special teachers. When walking through the halls, and looking into classrooms, in each one, there is a teacher that is always ready to take a time out for us.

Always Helping Where They're Needed

Kimball's secretaries and paraprofessionals are working hard to make this school one of the best. These dedicated members put a lot into their jobs and the progress shows. Many of the secretaries look forward to coming to the school each day because of the students and staff. "I like working with the students and staff here at Kimball," said Mrs. Kozlowski. The room is always filled with the sounds of students, bells, and telephones; these hard working gals are always ready to lend a hand when needed. Paraprofessionals at Kimball work extremely hard to show who they are and what special qualities they have. ## Hall Guards and Custodians Make Kimball a Better Place

There are certain people that seem to go unnoticed at Kimball. Our Hall Guards and custodians are around to make sure the school is kept safe and clean. They provide a positive learning environment for us, one that is orderly and neat.

Our Hall Guards enforce the rules of our school while being our friends, too. Mrs. Bell, who has been a Hall Guard at Kimball for 18 years, says she likes the fact that her job is "never boring." She also likes the "uncertainty of her job." Everyday we use our Hall Guards, whether it's to prevent an intruder from entering the school or making sure we, the students, do not get too wild and crazy. Their job is one that is underestimated. In order to keep Kimball safe, our Hall Guards need a lot of patience.

Over the past three years our custodial staff, with Art Watson as their leader, has had a big responsibility thrust upon their shoulders; they have been in charge of making sure that our renovation goes smoothly. They also clean up after everybody, and we all have a habit of being just a little bit messy.

ENERGY MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Communications, AP English, Poetry ... What do all these classes have in common? These and many others are all part of Kimball's English Department. This year, the Department, along with the rest of Kimball, has been through some renovation. Mrs.

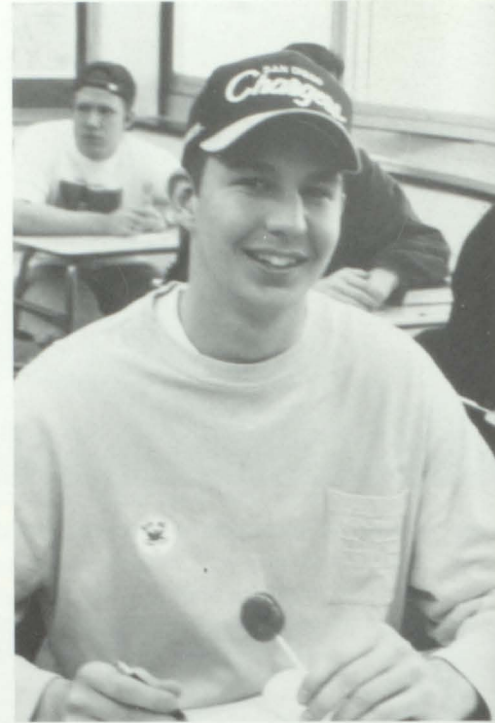

McClanaghan, serving her first year as the English Department Head, says that the English Department is a "combination of veteran and new teachers, with energy, enthusiasm and many new ideas. This attitude is reflected in classes throughout the whole Department. The English teachers are constantly "reviewing and revising their curriculum to make it meet the needs of the students and prepare them for the future," states McClanaghan. Mrs.

"Before one can have anything greater in life, one must be educated."

KIMBALL STUDENTS LEARN ABOUT OTHER COUNTRIES

"There are more and more people in the United States who don't speak English. I think it's important that kids are exposed to other languages." This is why Mrs. Klein, a Spanish teacher at Kimball, decided to teach a foreign language. She expects her students to know the basic pronunciation and spelling of Spanish. Mrs. Klein would also like to see all of her students graduate with enough knowledge of the Spanish language to pass the college entrance exams.

"I'm sure that French will be useful for me in the international job market." - Becky Smith, 4th year French student.

"If my students know what to expect when traveling to a Spanish speaking country, if they're somewhat familiar with their surroundings and are comfortable there, and if they can communicate with the people, then they have done well and accomplished all that I expected them to."

KIMBALL'S SPECIAL STUDENTS MASTER EVERYDAY CHALLENGES

Although all the teachers here at Kimball take a genuine interest in their students, the teachers that work with the physically and mentally challenged students have especially rewarding jobs. The special kids in these programs including POHI, TMI, VI, speech therapy, physical therapy and hearing impaired, take great pride in their work.

Mrs. Austin explains the activities some of the kids are involved in. "We go out into the community to learn everyday tasks that help them to become more independent. We often go to Meijers and the Credit Union to learn money management."

"I need to learn these things because I am an adult now," stated Cynthia Hawarney

"The program has helped me a lot," Cynthia Hawarney, a senior in the P.T. program stated, "I need to learn these things because I am an adult now." When asked about her fondest memories of Kimball High School, Cynthia took a minute and then commented, "My best memories of Kimball are the times with my friends."

The Write Stuff

CREATIVITY AT ITS FINEST

"With a mixture of enthusiasm and hard work, Herald has fulfilled my every journalistic dream," declared two-year staff member Dave Cramton. That is a good description of Kimball High School's very own newspaper. With articles to write and deadlines to meet, the Herald room can get extremely hectic, but at the same time, it also has a very fun atmosphere. "With the largest staff in Herald history, we're seeing a lot more contributions in the areas of creativity and imagination," exclaimed Herald advisor Gail Bennett. The Herald covers a wide variety of articles, ranging from pressing national issues to clubs and activities, to school and professional sports. Every issue devotes a column to each grade which gives information about that particular class, surveys of students, and a handful of charming and witty comments.

Stu Hursin and Jennifer Tracy didn't always agree on how to write their articles, but when it came down to the wire, they always managed to produce a great article.

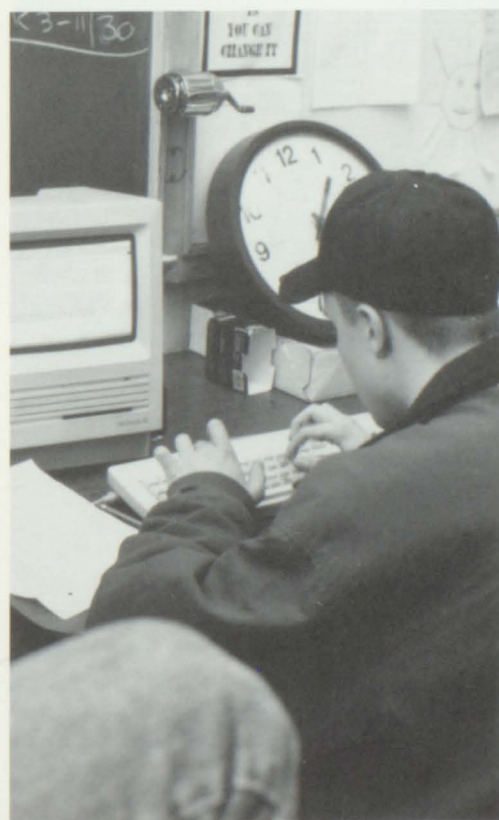

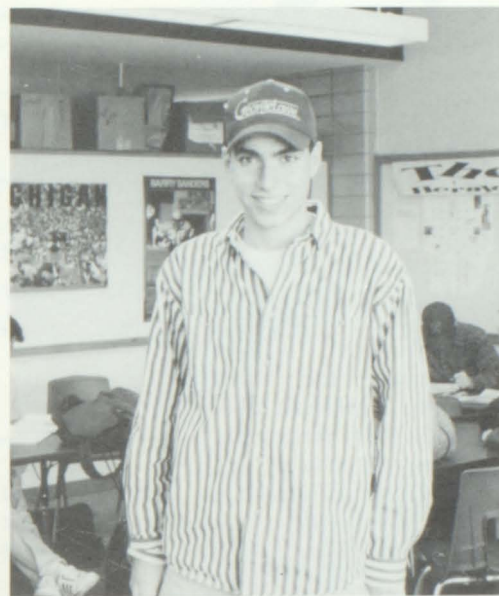

Chuck Spenceley and Didier Trinh concentrate on editing their respective articles for any mistakes before it goes to print.

First-year staff member Dave DerKevorkian loves the friendly, cooperative atmosphere of Herald. "It's great! We're like a big family!"

Sports co-editor Adam Taylor fine tunes his article before turning his attention to helping other writers on staff.

Dan Polsgrove, Brian Wilson, Dave Cramton, and Tom Schoenberg combine their talents to create another journalistic masterpiece.

Sandra Heikkinen prepares art work for Xenolith. She hopes her creativeness will appear in this year's magazine.

STUDENTS PUT CREATIVE MINDS TO THE TEST

Xenolith, Kimball's very own fine arts magazine, is special this year. It's no longer just held before or after school twice a month. This year for the first time ever, Xenolith is a class. During first hour, students have the opportunity to create their own submissions. First semester, the class learned PageMaker. This helped them prepare for the publishing of the magazine. it. She recommends students submit their original work. Students can submit artwork, poems, essay, short stories etc. "It's a way to improve your writing or drawing," said Holliday Samson. "I like it. It's a great class." Students are encouraged to submit to Xenolith. It's an excellent way to show your creative skills. "I love Xenolith as a class," said editor-in-chief Stephanie Miller, "But you have to be willing to work." Xenolith provides a great chance for students to see their artistry in print, and it is eagerly awaited by all.

Global Learning

WORLD WITHIN A WORLD

Many students weren't really into social studies as they first entered high school. Many students have been taught social studies by reading a book and taking a test for the majority of their lives.

(But) When students take a social studies class at Kimball, the learning experience is much greater. History, government, and geography classes are filled with amazing facts, exciting lectures, fun projects and tons of class participation.

"My favorite history class was Mr. Palen's U.S. History 1. His lectures were always interesting and his comedy made it one of a kind," junior Stu Hursin stated.

The social studies classes at Kimball range from World Geography to A/P History, Sociology, Psychology, and Government. Everyone is sure to find a class that appeals to them. "I took World Geography my freshman year and it has always remained one of my favorite classes. Many people do not think such a class is very important but it truly does help with other classes throughout high school," said Neal Mozdzierz.

Not only are social studies classes important but so are the teachers who bring the past events to life. "My favorite social studies teacher was definitely Mr. Grant. He has a way of relating textbook education to everyday life. He makes the class very interesting," senior Corey Reiser replied.

All of the teachers in this department make history come alive.

"I feel that it is very important for a person to be aware of the 'Politics of Survival'. Government is a key in understanding how the world operates."

- Doug Ashley

Favorite teacher, Mr. Nash, is ready for a famous "thumbs up" and a smile. His lessons are educational, whether they are about history or life.

Junior Laura Keisoglou takes a few quick moments to study before another big test. History plays a very important role in students lives.

Silence is golden. Ahmed Abdullah, Jason Adams, and Lou Alfalah listen closely to all of Mr. Grant's lectures during second hour.

There was never a dull moment in Mr. Palen's sixth hour government class. Seniors Vicki Low, Brent Olsen, and Andrea Ray can prove it.

WHAT'S EXPECTED OF KIMBALL'S MATH SCHOLARS??

As far as math is concerned, many things are expected from students. Mr. Jacobson, head of the math department, expected that his students "be the best they can be."

Students as well as teachers also have expectations. Tonya Lukasik, junior, states, "I expect a math teacher to help me prepare for the future and really help me learn about math."

Korinn Koslofsky, sophomore, explains, "I would just like the math teachers to be willing to take an extra day if a majority of students aren't understanding; math is a hard subject for many students."

"be the best you can be"
- Mr. Jacobson

Sean Martin, junior, states, "I'd expect teachers to be equally fair to all students and to help out every student."

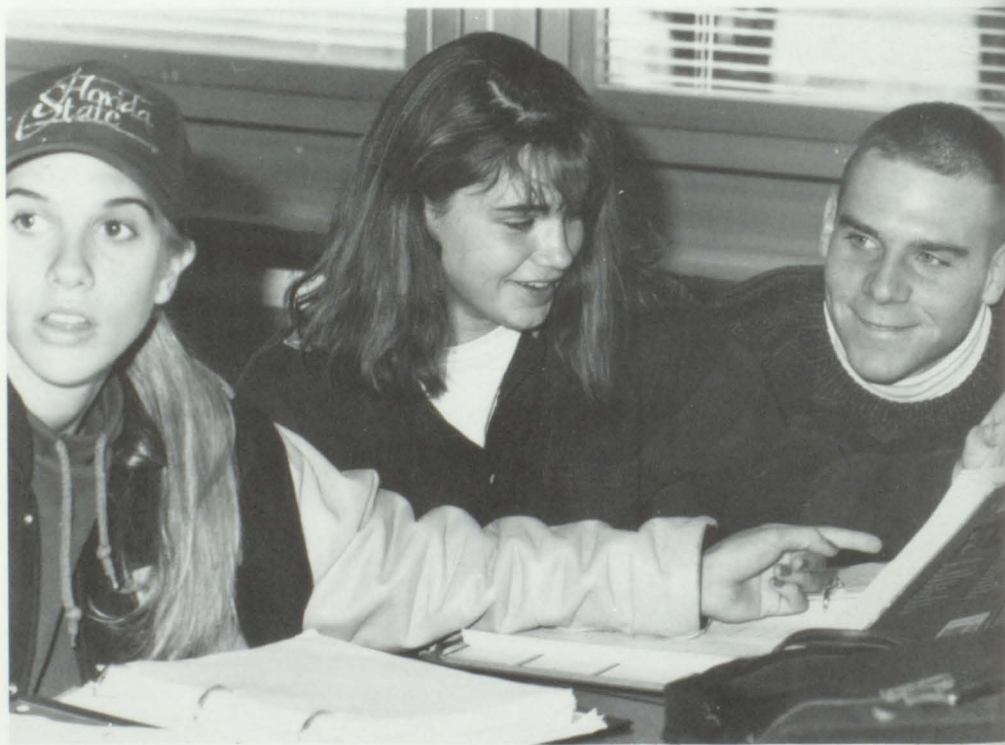

Kimball's math teachers play an important role in their students' futures. After all, certain math courses are imperative for graduation, and who better to graduate these students than these knowledgeable educators.

Melissa Weckler concentrates hard on one of her many math assignments.

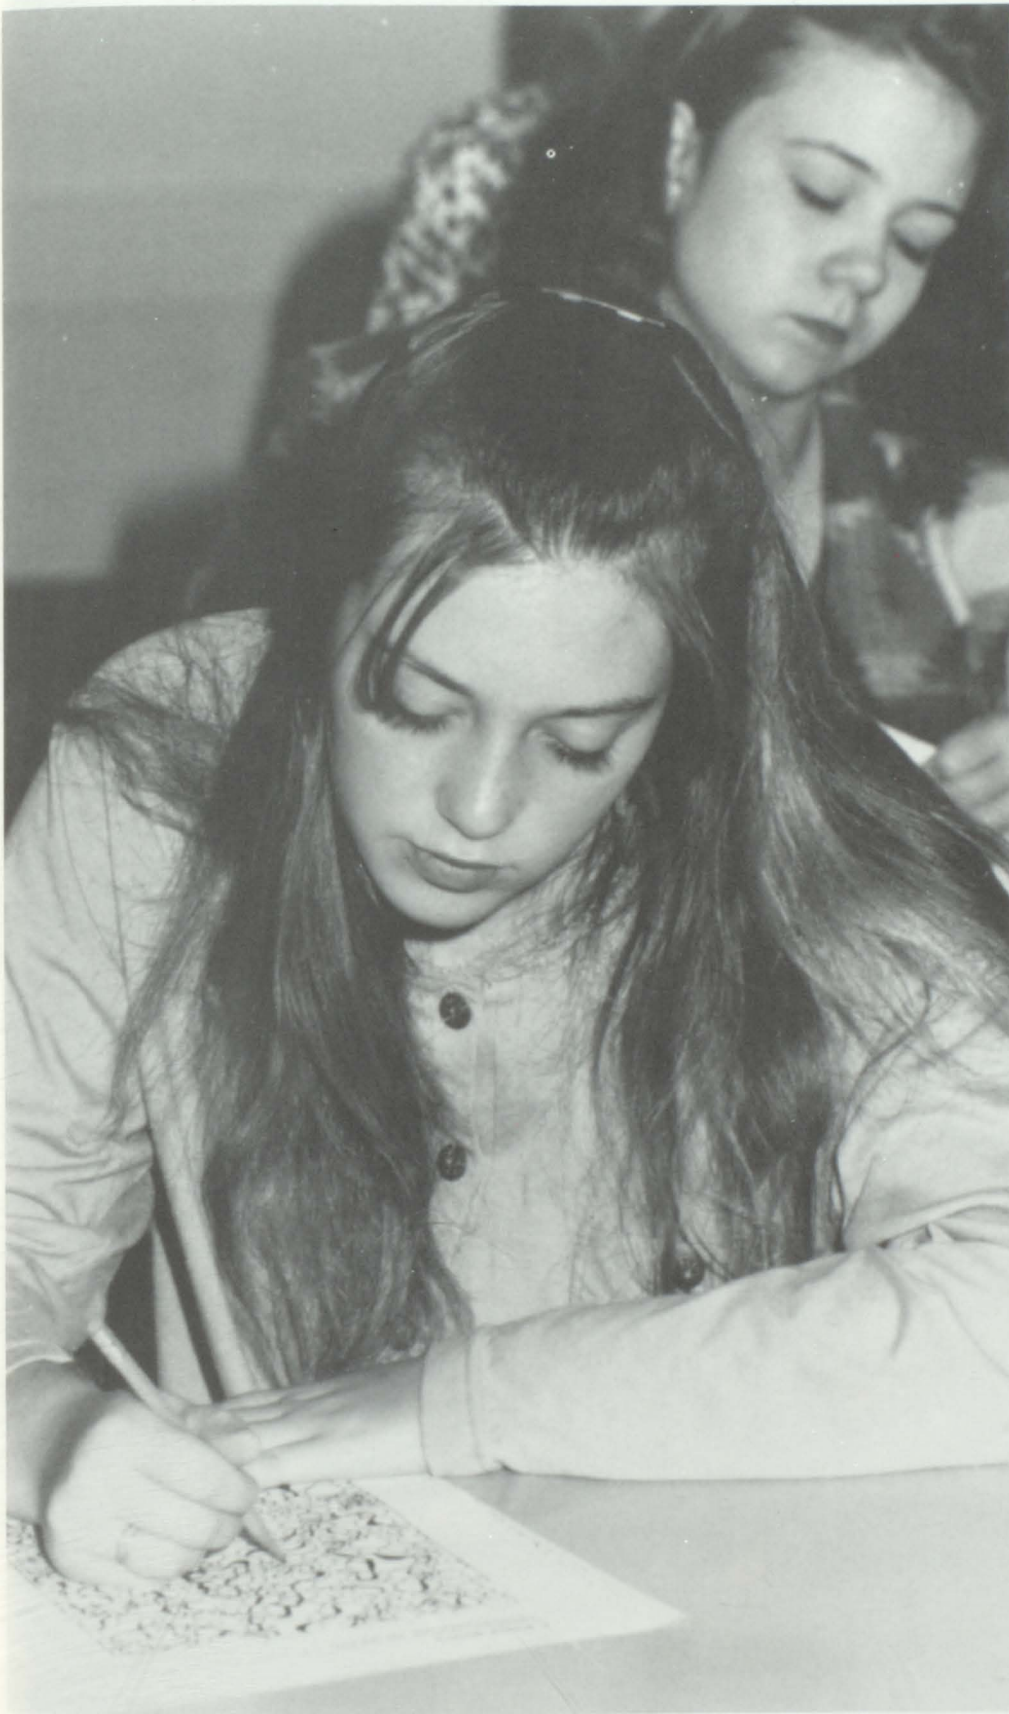

Justin Bell works hard in math because it is important to him.

Mad Science

A SOLUTION OF FUN

Many students feel that science is not their favorite subject when they first enter high school. The experience with science at Kimball makes students want to learn more, and take more science classes. Science classes are filled with learning experiences and enjoyment.

The Science Department head at Kimball is Mr. Heald. "Mr. Heald is the best teacher, I know because I am a student assistant for him. He is the coolest guy," said Jason Ball.

"A.P. Chemistry is the best class I've taken all year," Chuck Copeland admits.

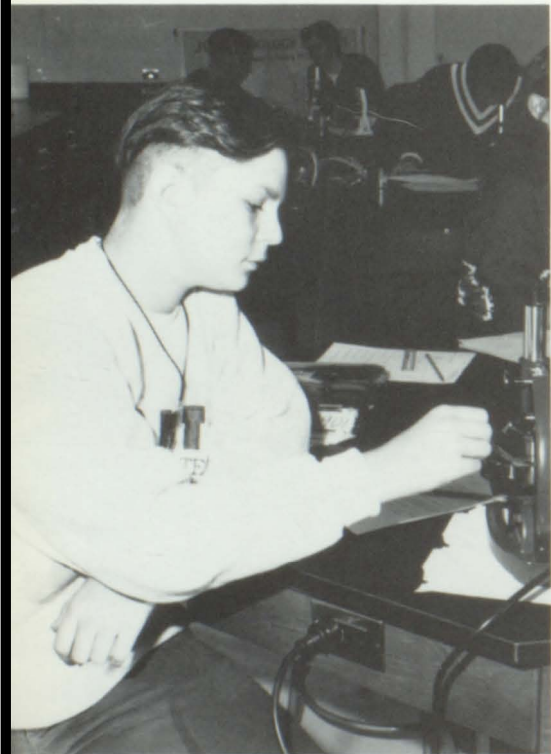

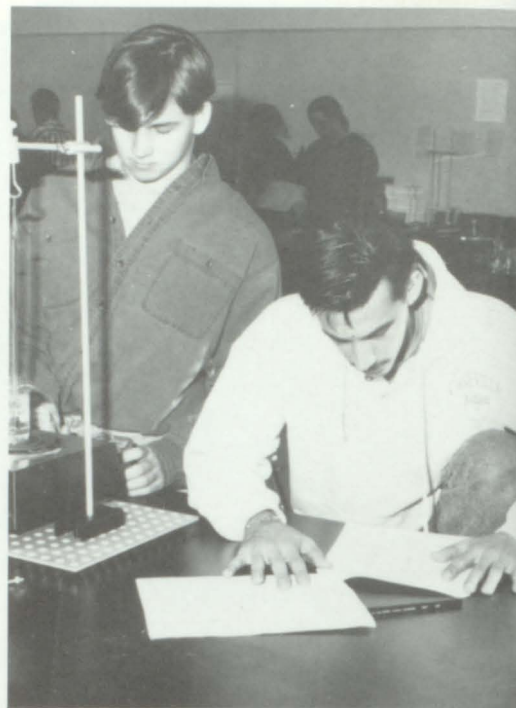

"Mrs. Christensen is an understanding teacher. I can totally understand everything that she teaches us. I really like her," Angela Holly explains.

Angela Holly explains.

"Mr. Myers is my favorite teacher of all times. I really learned so much from him, and he is a great guy, too," Scott Nelson said.

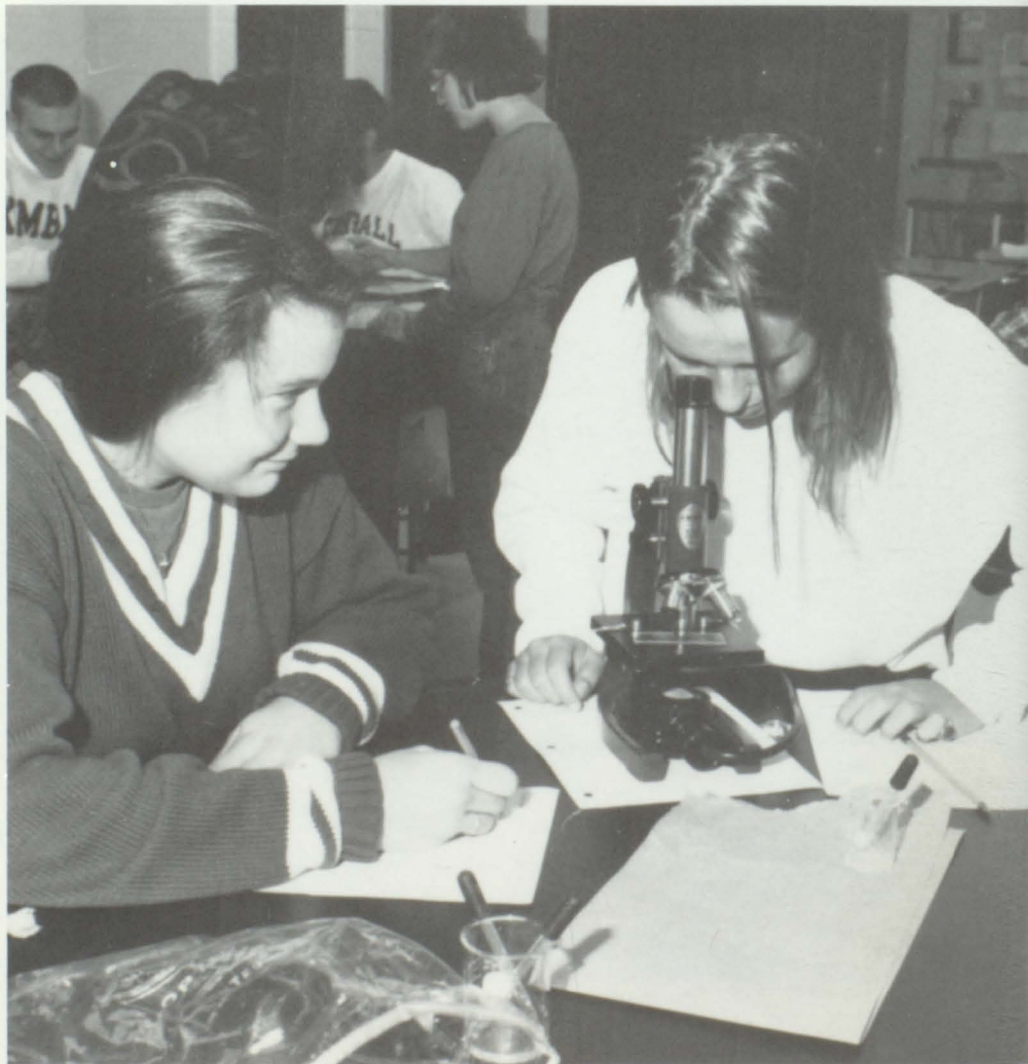

Even if science is not your favorite subject, other people do enjoy it. "Mr. Schultheiss is my favorite teacher, I love Wade! I really enjoy science," April Holly explains.

Computers At Kimball

COMPUTER STUDENTS LEARN EVERYTHING FROM A TO Z

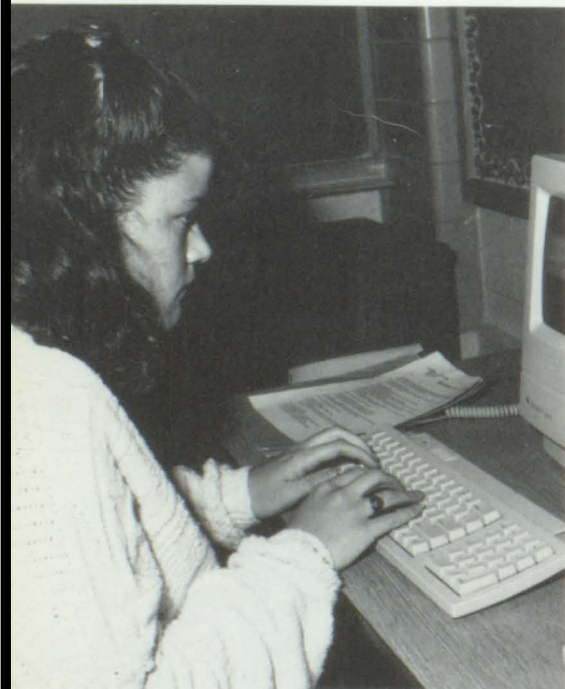

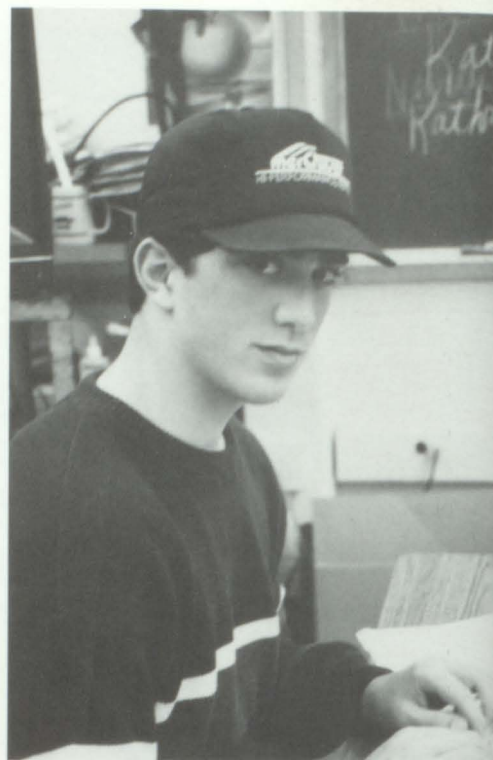

"The most valuable skill a student can acquire in computers is to sit down and walk himself through a new program," states Mr. Clark. He has been teaching computers since computer courses have been available at Kimball. In Mr. Clark's specialty course, Computer Applications, a student can learn: the spreadsheet; how to organize payments; enter formulas; how to average; how to organize mortgages; and how to find principles. Amie Foster claims, "It's difficult, but it's worthwhile."

"It's difficult, but it's worthwhile."

- Amie Foster, Computer Applications Student

Although there is no "computer department", Mr. Ewell is known as the supervisor. He has done this for ten years here at Kimball. Mr. Jacobson, Mrs. Flynn, Mr. Freeman, and Ms. Milich also teach computer-related courses.

Computers are used for a variety of other subjects. They have been a great deal of help to the English, Social Studies, and Mathematics departments.

Stacy Blake is very industrious in the computer lab.

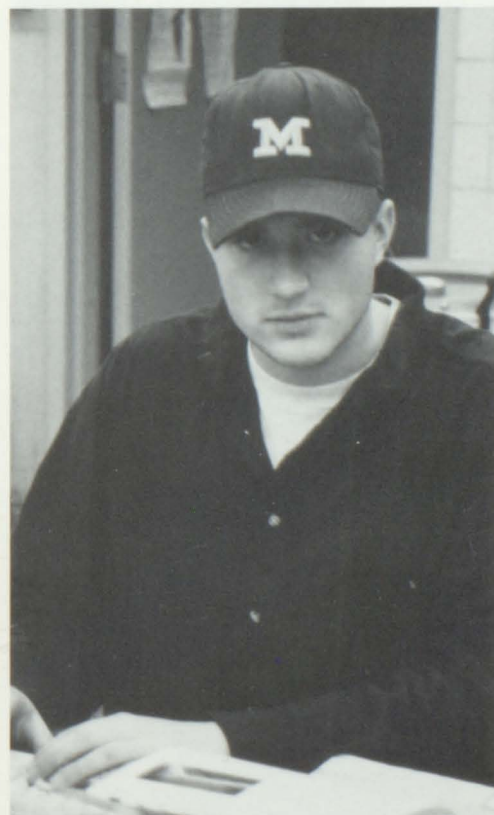

Senior Erik Gellert completes a typing assignment.

Mrs. Flynn is always around to help students learn new programs.

KIMBALL RENOVATES AV/MEDIA CENTER

Students returned to school this year to find a new cafeteria, classrooms, main office, desks, and TV's in each classroom. The biggest addition to Kimball High School this year was the new Media Center. The upperclassmen watched the architects and builders construct the media center for two years — now it's open! "I love it," said Ms. Magid, Kimball's media specialist. Composition is where students are first introduced to the library system here at Kimball. "I teach the Composition kids the basic learning skills of the library," said Ms. Magid.

WANT TO GET DOWN TO BUSINESS?

The business department here at Kimball is thriving. Students who enroll in business classes are fortunate — they have excellent programs, and they have Mrs. Flynn. “Our place in the curriculum is to make sure that students leave with some skills,” she commented, then added, “We have a partnership with the R.O. Community Credit Union and Tech Prep.” Students think the business classes are great, too. “It gives young people a good idea of what the business world is like,”

“We try to keep students current with new technology.” — Mrs. Flynn said Sarika Bhatnagar, a member of Business Professionals of America. Sheri Fry, who’s in a business-related co-op program, agreed. “I’ve learned many things that will help me in the future.” Jenny McAdoo is a pupil of business law. “I’m introduced to new concepts.” The business department took even more of a “byte” of Kimball affairs this year with the arrival of a school store. Watch out, business world! Our graduates are coming your way!

Alissa Szarek is intent on her work.

Art in the 90's

LEARNING THE VALUES OF TRUE AESTHETIC

The Kimball Art program has again submitted art work for the 1994 Scholastic Art Competition and again it was a very successful year. Fifteen students received twenty three awards at the regional level.

Certificate of Merit Awards went to: Sara Alman, Matthew Doyle, Veronica Heide, Matt Srugis, and Rachel Hood.

Silver Key Awards went to: Joe Higgins, Rachel Hood, Kati McCormick, Kimberley Regan, Julian Sula, Steve Sprinkle, and Kristen Leinhos.

"The art program here doesn't just teach the fundamentals, but lets students form uniqueness and individuality," former KHS graduate.

Gold Key Award winners, whose work went on to New York for National Competition are Lisa Bole-dovich, Veronica Heide, Rachel Hood, Julie Lawson, Daphne Lung, Julian Sula, and Angela Jacques.

All of these works were on display with others at the Summit Place Mall in Pontiac from February 7 thru February 20, 1994.

Senior Kim Regan concentrates on working out problems in another piece for Mr. Landry's Honors Art class.

Ruth Stone explains how art is a gift that comes from emotion, while Brian Oliver demonstrates.

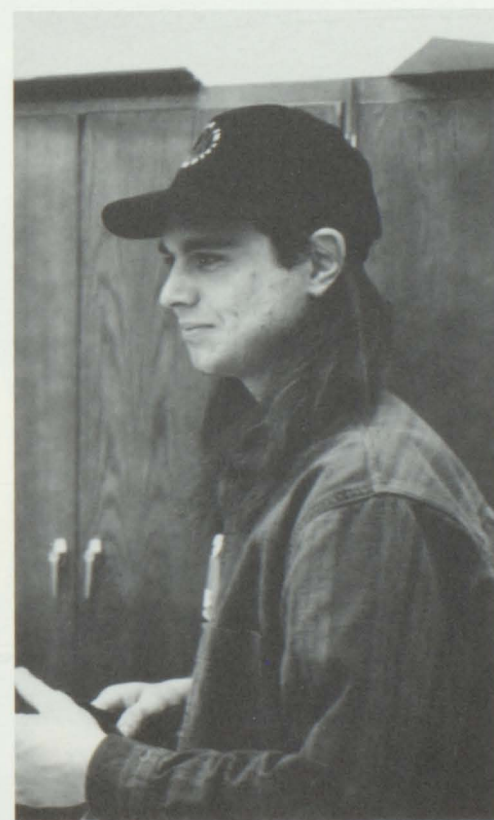

Junior Daphne Lung takes a moment to study and critique her piece, deciding what to work on next.

Senior Paul Boledovich works intensely on the wheel in Mr. Powers' Arts and Crafts class.

Senior Honors Art student Matt Doyle, prepares his tools for his sculpture. After they're clean he can start his next project.

Veronica Heide chuckles at 2nd hour Honors Art humor as she prepares her next still life.

A master of the triangle, John Price measures out everything with precision.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS TEACHES SKILLS TO LIVE BY

Industrial arts is not just another elective. It's a form of expression, a creative outlet which includes, drafting, jewelry, metal and woodshop, and auto maintenance. There for people to communicate what they like to do and how they like to do it. "Being a freshman I haven't had a chance before to take a drafting class, I like it a lot already I've learned so much," says Ted Winnen.

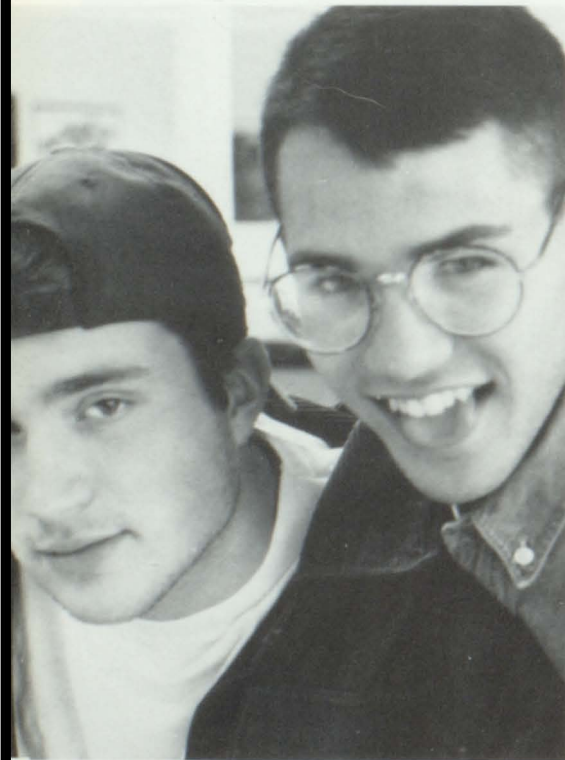

Department head Harry Zientek is a master in his field with a great reputation among students. "One of the reasons I took drafting was because I heard of Mr. Z's reputation as an excellent teacher and a brilliant draftsman," admits senior and first time drafts woman Jenny Todd. Industrial arts isn't just for the novice, it is also a class where others have the chance to perfect skills attained earlier in life. "I like working with my hands," confides Jason Webster, "woodshop gives me the opportunity to do this." Overall industrial arts gives everyone involved the know how to succeed.

"I've learned alot of skills I otherwise might not have learned," replies senior Erik Dennis.

TEMPERATURES, BLOOD PRES- SURE, PULSE AND RESPIRATION

Taking temperatures, blood pressures, pulse and respiration rates. Hearing these famous medical terms you would think you were in a hospital. WRONG! This is your basic learning day in a Medical Skills class taught here at Kimball High School. Coordinator Mary Fry and Instructor Alicia Brown are the ones who put it all together. Some two year students have the advantage to work in the hospitals around town. But for the first year students, days are made up of medical terms, workbook pages and lectures. Junior Dawn Gibson tells why she decided to take Medical Skills. "I took Medical Skills because I plan on pursuing a career in the medical field. I hope that it will lead me one step further in life." Julianna Catanese tells what she likes best about Medical Skills. "I like Medical Skills because it's different than the average classes that I take. It gives students the ability to prepare for future medical careers."

"It gives students the ability to prepare for future medical careers"

Pump It Up!

LEARNING TO LIVE A HEALTHY LIFESTYLE

Many people complain about having to go to gym class because they don't want to change, or they don't want to get all hot and sweaty. These complaints are temporary, the benefits of leading a good, healthy lifestyle taught in gym are forever. The skills taught in physical education, unlike skills taught in other classes, are applicable to everyone's life no matter young or old. Granted, later in life we will not be able to participate in some of the activities done in class, but the actual mode of being active will stay with us if we pursue it. Physical Education classes help to teach skills necessary to living a healthy life.

"The gym classes that I have taken have helped me to learn more about ways to stay fit and have been very enjoyable," tells Jeramiah Porter.

To be physically fit is the goal of all. If one is not physically fit then the skills acquired in other fields of interest don't matter much. We must first start with our body. The body keeps us ticking. It won't matter what the indirect object of a sentence is if we are not well enough to see it.

So for all you people that complain about going to gym, stop and think about what gym can do for you!

Brent Olson easily benches all that weight, and does with a smile!

Freshmen, Michelle Long and Sarah McCormick are stretching to avoid injuries before playing floor hockey.

Dave DerKevorkian is working hard at improving his physical strength.

Mr. Kettenbeil heads the Driver's Education department with a touch of humor and discipline.

DRIVERS EDUCATION REVS UP FOR THE FUTURE

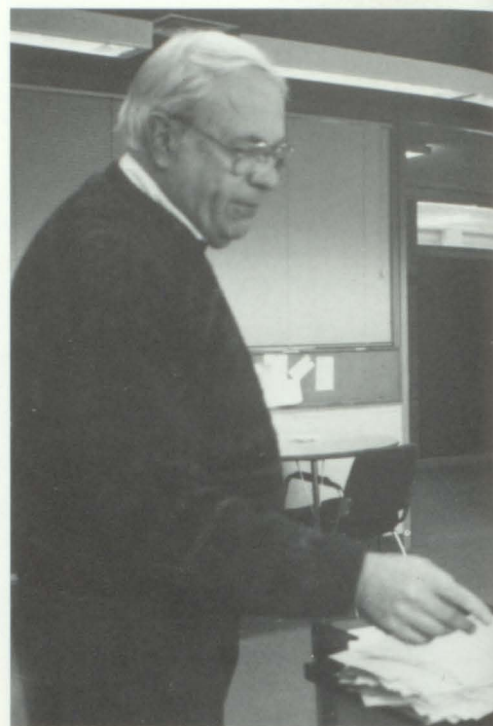

Getting your driver's license is a big step in a person's life. It opens up new horizons for people to explore. "I just took Driver's Ed, and I can't wait to get my license," said sophomore Melissa Porter. With the driving expertise of such teachers as Mr. Castle and Mr. Kettenbeil showing the way, students are assured a safe way of learning. Junior Melanie Marquard learned some new things, "I finally know what a green light means." Many are excited about going out to lunch, cruising Gratiot, and most of all, going out with friends. Sophomore Kelly Garnett had this to say, "Now I don't have to ride with my sister anymore."

Some are lucky enough to have a car when they turn sixteen, but sophomore Aaron Garrison had this to say, "I'm looking into either a black Typhoon or a Jaguar, but I'll probably get a Dodge Aries K."

Remember to savor your license, and don't abuse it, and always be careful of birds.

Seniors Tony Stewart and Drew Weidner practice their driving every chance they get, even after two years of having a license.

Freshmen Barry Novic and Kris Adamczyk listen attentively to what Mr. Castle has to say about driving safely.

Senior Melanie Morneau helps to keep the Driver's Ed office running smoothly and efficiently.

Senior Chris George on Driver's Ed, "My 8 week experience with Driver's Training has made me a much more responsible driver."

Sophomore Tim Mullen studies hard for his upcoming Driver's Ed test on "What a stop sign signifies."

Tony Stewart enjoys being on Co-op his senior year and working in the school credit union.

School And Work

Do School and Work Actually Mix?

School, friends, and work are the universal things that we deal with every day. Here at Kimball High School there is a program that deals with one of those areas, it's called Co-op. The Co-op program helps students to get a job and still receive a good education. Through the program you get the opportunity to talk with a counselor and pick a job that will deal with what you are interested in pursuing later on in your life. "Through Co-op I got a job working at Beaumont Hospital. Since I want to be a doctor when I get older this is really giving me experience that I can use," states Amy Ferrando.

"Working with students, and helping them with their first job gives me a lot of satisfaction," Mr. Chard.

Some parents don't think work and school should mix because finding time for both can get difficult. "Sometimes I have trouble finding time for school, but if I don't keep my grades up I'll have to quit so I find time for school no matter what," Becky Rogers explains about her work-school experience. The Co-op program helps many students get a good start in the work force.

Joni Lobbstaal works on her homework before heading over to her afternoon Co-op job.

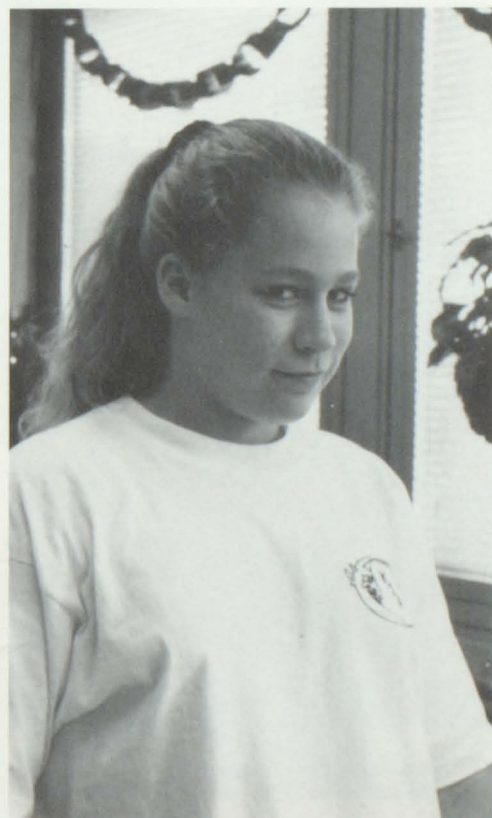

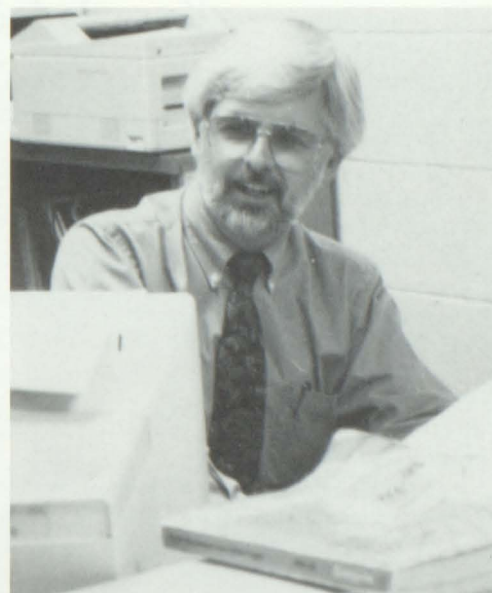

Stacy Jeffery and Corey Rieser have fun on the job as they work in the Student Service Center.

Mr. Chard, head of the Co-op program, helped students with their work and school.

Co-op gave Missy Gidley the opportunity to do office work for the Student Service Center.

Ahmed Abdullah and Lou Alfalah work Co-op in the credit union during lunch hours here at Kimball.

Corey Carver and Brad VanDeWater take time out to discuss their project.

Getting Started

Knowledge and Experience

Each year, many Kimball students take advantage of a great opportunity offered to them- Oakland Technical Center, otherwise known as OTC. Students have the choice of either attending OTC in the morning and school in the afternoon, or vice-versa. Students gain credits toward graduation while attending OTC. OTC offers a wide variety of different classes, with everything from auto body repair to data processing/computer programming to nursing assistant to fashion design and tailoring. It offers students the chance to attend school and obtain work experience at the same time. As OTC student Norm Cluff stated, "Oakland Technical Center is a lot of fun and a very valuable learning experience. I really enjoy my class, and I'm getting a head start on a possible career." Senior Brad

"OTC opens up many doors to students who take advantage of the opportunity." Brad VanDeWater

VanDeWater remarked that "OTC opens up many doors to students who take advantage of the opportunity."

Ed Armbruster devotes his attention to learn the skills and techniques necessary to operate this machinery.

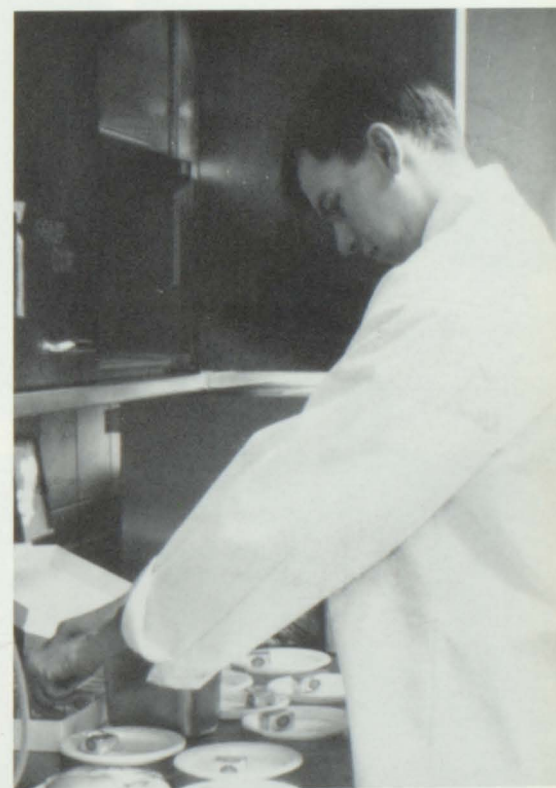

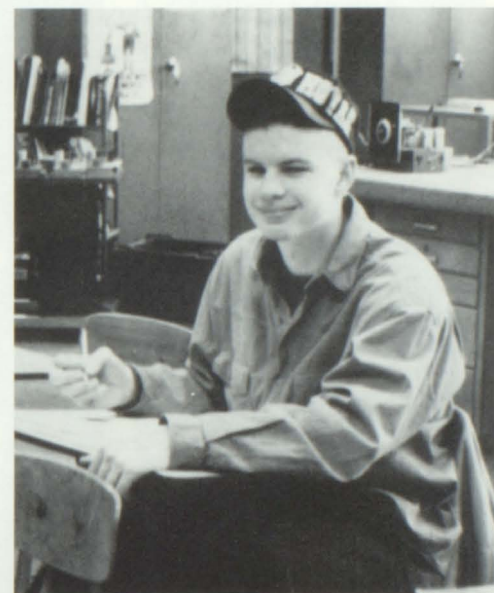

Mike Johnston says the OTC has been an enriching experience for him.

Sing With Your Eyes

KIMBALL CHOIRS GIVE THEIR ALL ON AND OFF THE STAGE!

"Sing with your eyes," is one of the important expressions that Mrs. Galli uses to have her choirs show positiveness in their performance. "My kids have a lot of potential, I know it and so do they but they just have to focus on that and give a good effort," says Mrs. Galli. The Choir Department is one of the best in city and state. Through determination and good planning, Mrs. Galli makes sure that there are plenty of projects for her choirs. Some of their activities range far and wide, from their Christmas Concert and Broadway Concert to the Pops Concert and Was-sail Fest! "The best part of choir is being with my friends and going on our choir trip," says Brandi Mansfield. This year the A Cappella Choir went to Canada and were invited to see some of the Broadway plays playing there.

They went to see the Phantom of the Opera in Toronto, Gypsy and Mid Summer Night's Dream in Stratford, Ontario.

Mrs. Galli describes her Choirs as compassionate, committed, sincere, and having a strong drive to be "The Best!"

BAND MEMBERS MAKE KIMBALL A HARMONIOUS SCHOOL

It's 7:15. In the band room, a group of students clammer around, trying to find their music or tuning up their instruments. At three o'clock, another group of students practice their dance routines. While students detest dragging themselves out of bed and staying at school until dinner time, they know it's necessary. The feeling of satisfaction one gets after playing a piece perfectly are immeasurable. And there's nothing like an awesome dance routine. Besides, band and color guard do have their good points — friends, trips, and tons of wonderful memories. "All my friends are in band. Band is fun!" stated Jenny Kerr. The trips hold special memorances for Courtney Carver, a member of both band and color guard. There is nothing like a little Pep Band to boost your spirits or Marching Band to keep you on your toes. There's no doubt about it, the bands and color guard make Kimball a harmonious place.

"All the friendships we've formed through band are wonderful," stated Traci Adamczyk and Emily Hetrick.

Senior Lisa Oleniczak has thoroughly enjoyed her four years in band.

MUSIC IS A LANGUAGE OF ITS OWN

The fabulous Kimball orchestra started out this year with a fresh look — a new room and new faces.

"I'm very excited about the group this year because of the influx of so many talented freshmen," enthused Mr. Tolias, the orchestra's treasured conductor. "I'm proud to be in orchestra, and I enjoy it!" exclaimed Joe Kadar. Many students think orchestra is something special. "It's like no other class!" commented Betty Chang. Megan Segel agreed. "It's a challenge worth taking." The orchestra took trips to Stratford and Toronto this year, and their second annual Cabaret concert was once again a smashing success. "It has been a very rewarding experience for me," said Shannon Madeja. "The orchestra is young and has a lot of potential," Daylan Benner opined. Joe Semchena also enjoyed orchestra. "It's been there for me

BUILDING THE STAIRS FOR THE FUTURE

Another great year of Roundtable has come and gone, but not without the memories of a job well done. The year started off with the all-school picnic and rolled right into Homecoming and the canned food drive, all sponsored by Roundtable. Dances were held just about every month and climaxed with the Summer Kick Off Party dedicated to the seniors. Jess Wendover exclaimed, "It's great being involved in school activities."

Scott Couzens, one of the incoming freshman representatives, comments about his first year, "I like to decide what I want to do. Working together as a team to get a job done."

"Everybody made me feel at home and was really friendly. America is a great place!" remarked Kennet Melgaard.

Two more additions to Roundtable were Kennet Melgaard and Annalie Mayer, both foreign exchange students. Roundtable watches its five officers graduate but the new class is coming in and will surely live up to past expectations. Jill

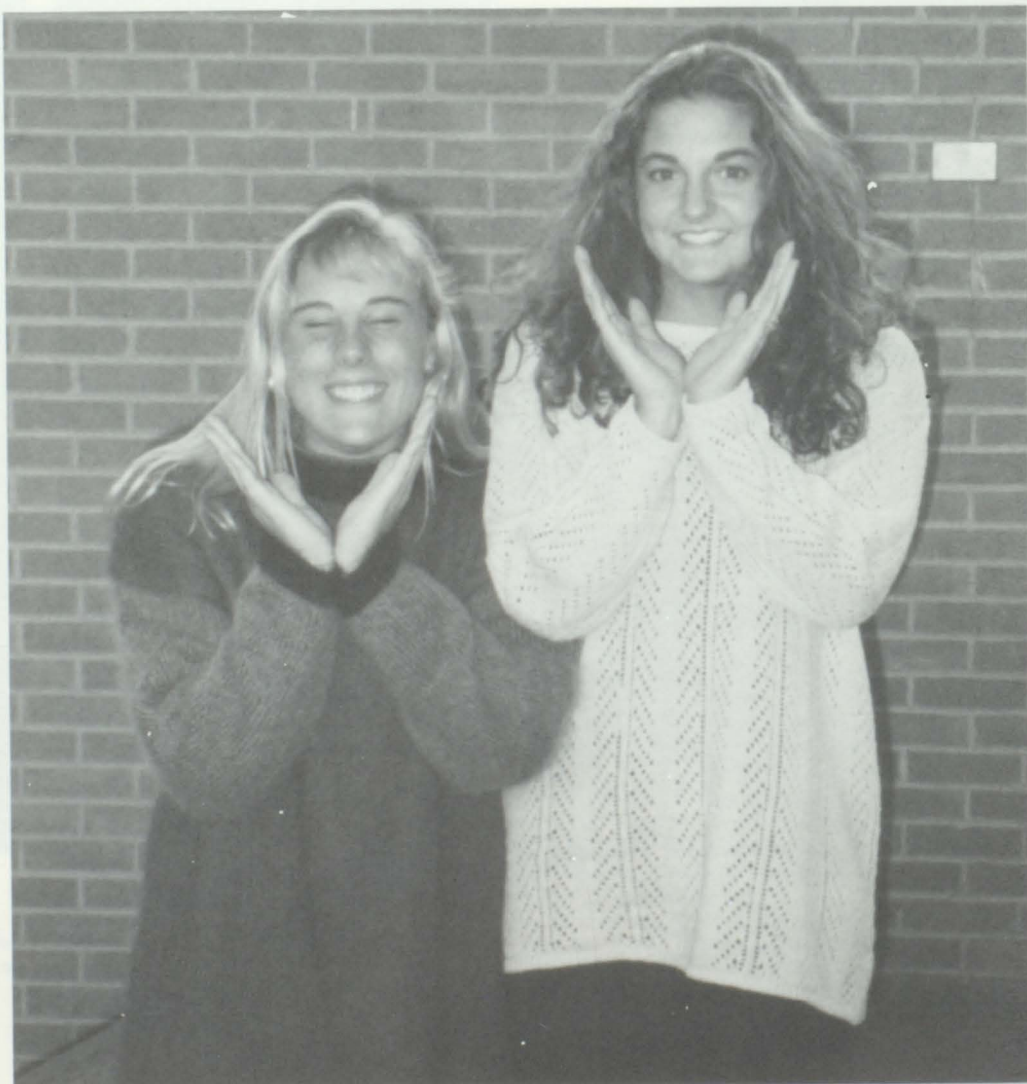

Novak sums up her time by saying, "I like to hangout with all the cool people!"

Obviously exhilarated to be a freshman representative, Becky Kinney doesn't have much time to stop and talk.

Seniors Anne Geisler and Bryn Gibson love the friendships they have made on Roundtable!

Half the fun of high school comes from participation in one or more of Kimball's activities. No where else can a student get the opportunity to interact with other students who possess similar interests on such an intimate level. Not only can students develop new friendships by getting involved, they can have a lot of fun while showing their school spirit. Kimball sponsors a wide variety of activities for every student's individual interests.

Getting involved in school is very important. Going to a dance or joining a club will provide memories that will last a life time. Not getting involved in high school is a decision that is regretted later in life. Sheri

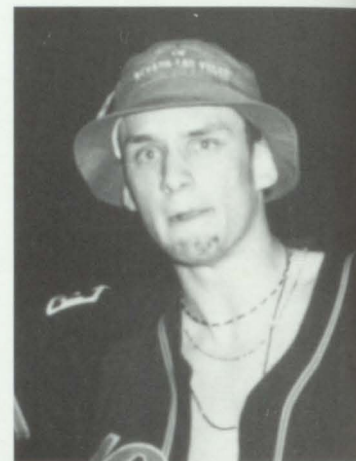

Fry is a very involved senior who agreed. "The activities I took part in the past 4 years here at Kimball have provided me with great times that I'll never forget!"

Senior Amy Sopata recognized Kimball activities with appreciation. "Dance Club, Mock Rock, the All School Picnic and other activities are what I enjoyed most about high school," Amy added.

As each student chooses his or her own adventure in life, start by getting involved in high school activities. High school experiences can be one's passport to adventure.

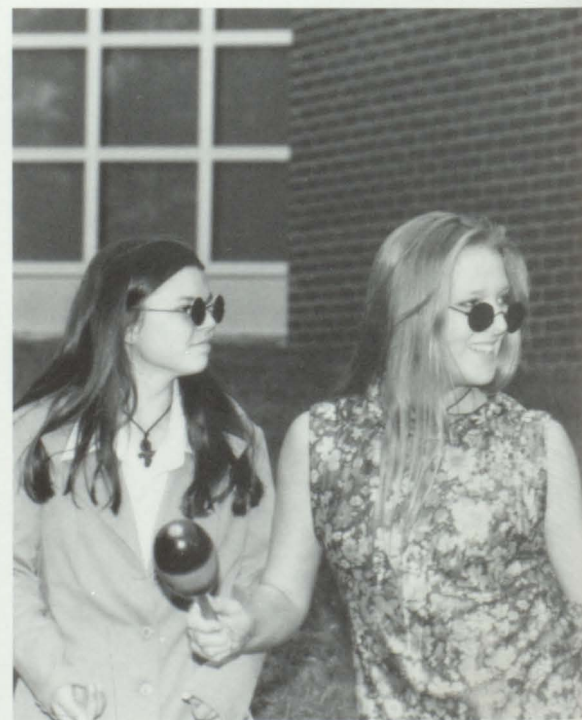

Mona Hanna got a chance to strut her stuff during Kimball's fall play, The Thirteenth Chair.

ALL SCHOOL PICNIC

Friendship Family and Fun spell out All School Picnic

the only time of the year that the courtyard was full of students, teachers and parents was also one of the best days of the year for Kimball High School.

Many came to watch the choir sing, or maybe even to buy the yearbook or school T-shirts. Others came just to show their school spirit and cheer on the football team. But for freshmen it was a chance to meet all kinds of new people. Junior Kristen FitzPatrick told why she attended this year's All School Picnic. "I went because I wanted to sign up for new clubs and to see what was going on with all the Kimball activities." It's a time for talking and meeting new faces and a time to join new clubs and organizations. But there is always that little something that makes going all worth while. "What I liked best about the picnic was seeing so many parents, grandparents and friends all getting involved together." Kristen described. If you missed it this year there is always next year. So don't miss out on The All School Picnic!

Knights Show Individuality and Spirit During Spirit Week

Jill, Ashley, Alex, Kim, Katie and Anne make an appearance on senior dress up day as the Village People.

Spirit week consisted of get up and go day, twin day, tacky day, senior dress-up day and blue and gold day. This year's spirit week was very successful. It was an opportunity for students to shine with individuality and creativity.

Sophomores Chris Parker and Mark Elliott enjoyed their second spirit week. "Spirit week makes me look forward to going to school in the morning," said Chris. They both enjoyed seeing what outfits students would create on tacky day and senior dress up day. "I thought my brother Steve looked quite odd on tacky day," Mark admitted.

One thing about spirit week that students didn't like was traditional twin day. "It's just like any normal school day," said Drew Gellasch. Or "Having to go out to lunch in your pajamas," said Annelie Mayer.

There is no doubt, however, that students enjoyed spirit week. It was a fun way to unite the student body and it allowed students to show their personality and school spirit.

Princess "Laura Green" Leah was out in search of Luke Skywalker during spirit week.

Hiding behind their veils are Janelle Moir, Kelly Acton and Jenny Sporer.

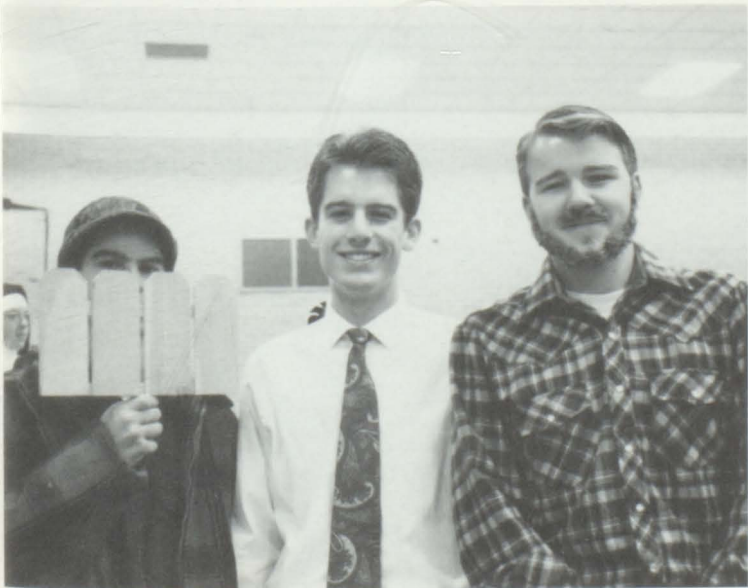

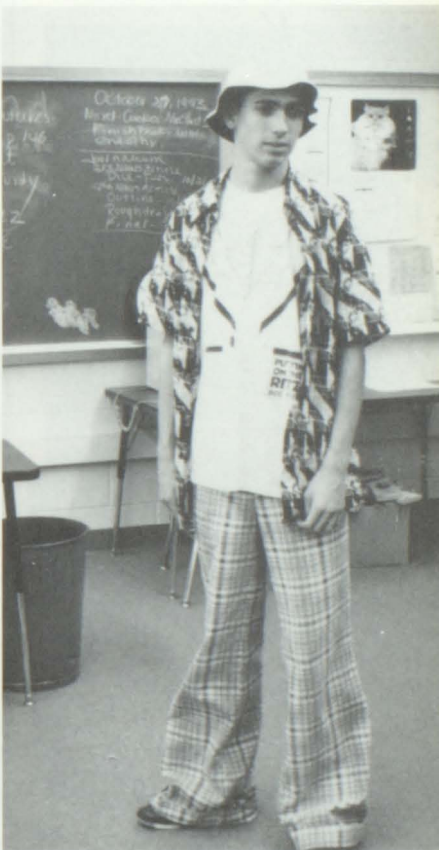

Corrie Shotwell had a hair raising great time during spirit week.

Paul Oppenheim had the fashion police a 'runnin'!

Who are these masked men? Chris, Nate, Keith and Rich were Mexican bandits on senior dress up day.

Taking a break from Tool Time were Chuck Spenceley, Chris Moritz and Steve Grant.

through many ups and downs the spring musical 'Hello Dolly!' came off without a hitch. Even though lead, Dale Rohrbach, came down with strep throat the week of the play, understudy Jeff O'Grady filled in at the first dress rehearsal. Luckily by the second rehearsal Dale felt well enough to go on, and did.

'Hello Dolly!' is the story of Mrs. Dolly Levi, (played by Anjela Antonazzo) and her efforts to marry Horace Vandergelder, (portrayed by Chris Smith) a well-known millionaire. Along the way she succeeds in matching up the young widow, Mrs. Irene Malloy, (played by Anne Ricci) with Vandergelder's head clerk, Cornelius Hackl, (Dale Rohrbach). She also helps Cornelius' assistant Barnaby Tucker, (Andy Blocco) meet Mrs. Malloy's assistant, Minnie Fay, (Emilie Ellison) as well as Ambrose Kemper, (Matt Skwira) with Vandergelder's niece, Ermengarde, (played by Melissa Pagel). Everyone worked hard together resulting in a truly spectacular production.

Richard Kovacik, the villain, had this to say about the play: "The play taught me a lot about myself, the world of art and knives." "Thanks to Ms. Wildon for keeping her sanity in the face of the cast's antics!" exclaimed Mark Hanna. But actors aren't the only people who make a play great. "It's a chance to meet new people and have a blast!" enthused Sarah Dybas, who worked on scenery, ushering and makeup. "I learned a lot of new skills, and I had fun!" confided Shannon Madeja (she worked on scenery, stage crew, makeup, tickets and publicity!). Jenny Bacheldor, who was also in the ever-scurrying stage crew, said wryly, "Hearing the cast's lines, over and over again, is such a thrill!" Ah, the wonders of show biz!

Behind the Scenes

Students help behind the scenes of school fall play and spring musical.

This year's Kimball Drama Club members are putting on two productions the fall play and spring musical. The members all work in the same way to make the production come to life. "Drama club is a great activity to be involved in, whether you're on stage or behind the scenes you make a difference," said Renee Dalley. Drama Club is divided up in several committees, like for instance costumes, scenery, makeup, stage crew, tickets and publicity, and props. Most people in the cast usually become members to earn points, a way of crediting those who are active. If any member reaches up to a certain number of points they have a right to run for an office in the governing body of the drama club. Drama club meets every Wednesday of the first month. Ms. Wildon, is the sponsor of drama club and has the final say in what happens in every aspect of the productions. This years officers are the following: Elin Warn-President, Emilie Ellison-Vice President, Annie Ricci-Secretary, Mark Hanna-Treasurer.

Mary Beth Schlau is back again this year as sponsor with help from Kimball math teacher, Monica Marquard and Kimball graduate and former Dance Club member, Melissa Purtell.

"Ms. Marquard and Melissa have been a great addition to their club. We all love working with them and really appreciate their time," stated Rikki Sarmiento, a third year member.

Twelve dances, choreographed by the girls, were performed in the show. Other dances included were the Senior number, guys, guy/girl, father/daughter, and the officer number. The show was held May 5, 6 and 7 and "was the best ever", many club members commented.

"Working on the guy number was an experience I'll never forget. I really wasn't sure what to expect, but we had a lot of fun and great times," said Senior guy dancer, Dan Polsgrove.

Ski Club Members Take Advantage of the Snowiest Days of the Season.

It's Friday afternoon and the members of Kimball's ski club are packing up for Mt. Holly. Members leave after school Friday and return Friday around 11:30 p.m. Ms. Allen, the sponsor of Ski Club, enjoys having fun with the high school students. "This is a nice group of students," said Ms. Allen. Once a year the Ski Club goes skiing for an extended weekend leaving Friday afternoon and returning Sunday evening. This year the Ski Club went to Schuss Mountain Resort near Traverse City. Students had the whole weekend to ski and have fun with their friends. Members can go snowboarding, ski on wide-open, groomed cruising slopes, or beginners trails. The Lodges were open with shops and restaurants that students' could use. Members also had the opportunity to night ski under the lights. Ski Club is a new group with a variety of members from experienced to beginners. "It's a fun and interesting experience," said Ski Club member Holly Kumm. Students interested in Ski Club should see Ms. Allen and look forward to next winter.

Recognition for excellence

For such a dapper occasion, seniors Tom Schoenberg and Jay Swan accept initiation graciously from Chris Ahn and Melanie Morneau.

National Honor Society started off their new term with many new faces. There were a total of fifty nine people that warmed the faces of the incumbent members. Among those, Senior Traci Garnett, who was happy to be accepted said, "It is an honor to be a part of NHS because of its nationally known reputation and its prestigious members."

Besides having frequent meetings, NHS sponsors many activities including setting up a book drive, and is also responsible for running the newly created Kimball Bookstore. Members also tutor those who are experiencing difficulties in their academics. One major goal for the members is to help underclassmen make their future decisions wisely and to make sure they are choosing the right college for the correct reason.

"Our Membership is up this year and because of the extra people, our projects are much better. Participation is a major factor on NHS and the members this year seem eager to get involved," said NHS Secretary Chris Ahn.

S.E.A. gets the job done

Students for Environmental Awareness help the community and the school clean up our environment.

S.E.A. does a variety of different tasks such as recycling Christmas trees, white paper, and crushed cans. The first place they have begun the recycling is in the school cafeteria. Washable trays are now at use, and there are separate barrels to separate the trash.

Not only does S.E.A. work in the school they also conduct the Traveling S.E.A. Playhouse.

The Traveling S.E.A. Playhouse is a small play put on by members of S.E.A.. They travel to local elementary schools, discuss recycling, and ways to help save the earth.

"In S.E.A. we not only help, but we learn and have fun," added junior Diana Valdez.

Kimball's debate team had a successful year

the debate team, under the leadership of Mrs. Jane Greco, completed a year of improvement. Each member worked hard to advance personal as well as team goals for research and speaking. "In debate I don't have very much time for anything else. I have to sacrifice a lot but it is all worth it," reveals Dawn Gibson, debate captain.

Any student may join debate as long as he or she is dedicated. This year the debate team traveled to Mackinac Island and Florida as well as several other local places for tournaments. After committing the time and energy to debate, the team members became friends. "After a debate, regardless who wins or loses we all sit around and talk like we've known each other for years," states Jennifer McAdoo.

The Debate team has had a good year, they have learned to stretch academically, socially, and personally. The team has really grown together and has helped each other out a lot. Debate should be seriously considered by students as a class or an activity. It can be a very rewarding experience.

It's 7:30 in the morning and Kimball is virtually silent except for room 156 where the latest meeting of the Business Professionals of America is being held. That computer-filled room is buzzing with discussion over the next competition, the biggest and most fun event on the Business Professional's yearly agenda. A competition is a test where members show off their skills in accounting, typing, public speaking and other business related categories. Each team member scores points according to his or her proficiency in that area. Senior president, Rachel Hood said, "In a competition, schools from all around south-eastern Michigan compete in different business-related areas. If you're good enough, you go onto Regionals, States, and Nationals." Plus, members learn job skills. "It prepares you for jobs and the challenges that come along with them," stated Rachel. "It's a great way to learn about different aspects of French culture. And we do everything as a group so it's a lot more fun than learning alone," said Renee Malczewski. The French Club meets 1-2 times a month to view French films with subtitles, or to plan trips to French restaurants and plays. Last year they saw Phantom of the Opera at the Masonic Temple. Along with local trips, the French Club had the opportunity to travel to France this year. This trip included a three day stay in Paris and a trip to Monaco. French Club is very busy and membership offers students a lot of background to France that they wouldn't normally learn. Mrs. Fitch sponsors French Club and is pleased with what it accomplishes. # A WHOLE NEW WORLD

New Cultures and Traditions

There is an organization named the Youth for Understanding International program that is a wonderful opportunity to those who take advantage of it, and one of those wise people is Kimball's Kennet Melgaard.

"Annelie was a very nice girl and she taught me a lot about Germany and its different traditions and lifestyle," said Courtney Castle.

"When I first moved here, I wasn't sure if I was going to like living in Royal Oak, but the people here are very friendly and they made me feel right at home."

Senior Kennet Melgaard was a welcome addition to the ranks of Kimball High School. An active member of both the football and basketball teams and a Roundtable representative, Kennet had little difficulty adjusting to the American culture.

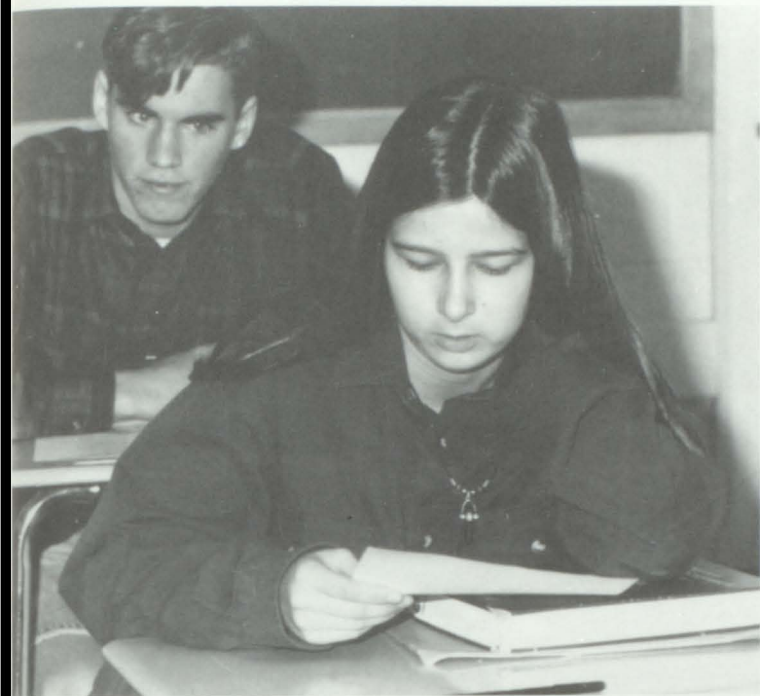

Kennet came to us from Taasttrup, Denmark. Quickly becoming a member of the football and basketball teams and a Roundtable representative helped Kennet learn more about the American culture and traditions.

Another participant in the program was Annelie Mayer, a Germany native. While only here for a few months, Annelie brightened the days of those who knew her before she returned to her homeland.

Kimball Athletics

LET'S GO KIMBALL!

Nothing unites a student body or offers as much school spirit and pride as a school's sports teams. The Kimball athletics program this year was incredibly successful. This school year's achievements in sports were not only attributed to Kimball's fine athletes but also its coaches and the supervision of athletic director, Chuck Jones.

What was the most memorable athletic moment of the 1994 school year? "Winning the S.M.A. first doubles with Tracy Garnett," said Anne Geisler. "The entire football team shaving their heads," said Corey Reiser. "The Big Girls (the girl's Varsity Basketball team)," stated their #1 fan, Adam Taylor.

"Beating Dondero at the Silverdome game," decided Keri Kubicki.

As the graduating class of 1994's athletes and fans move on, they will always remember the fun they had and the lessons they learned from Kimball games, matches and meets. Senior Steve Kratz will miss playing soccer for Kimball. "Playing sports kept me out of trouble," Steve admitted. Amy Sopata added, "I will miss watching Kimball soccer games."

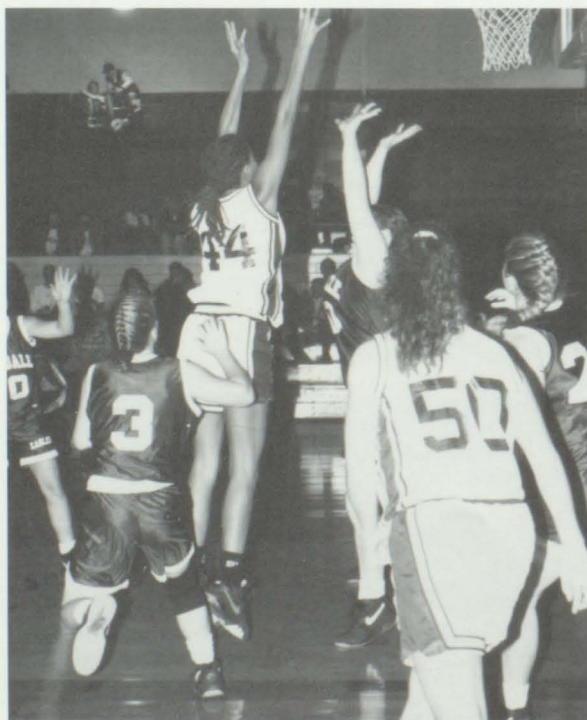

Congratulations to all athletes of '94. Their hard work and dedication was appreciated and will be remembered by their fans.

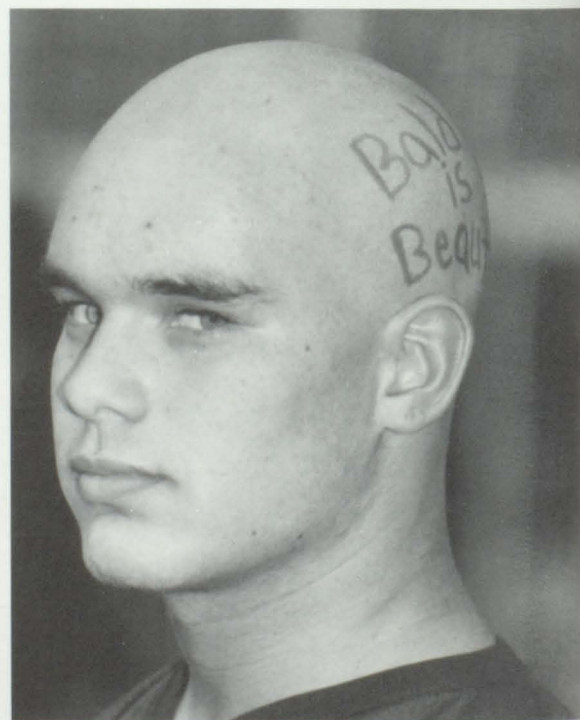

"Golden Boy" Dan Polsgrove was a fine asset to Kimball athletics.

Craig Sisson showed determination and hard work as a track member.

KNIGHT BALL

the 1992-93 Boys Varsity Baseball team displayed great talent and showed extreme effort during their season last year. Throughout their season, the team's main objective was to work hard toward their goal of an SMA title. As newspapers began to talk about Kimball's expected season, others took notice. With this wave of good luck, the team was ready to play competitive ball. To some, the season was long, but short to remember.

The team's great coaching staff and excellent team players. The team's captains, Jay MacDonald, Lou Mendoza, and Ian Kologek, helped lead the team to an outstanding seasonal record of 26-3, during which Coach Clouser won his 500th game as Kimball Coach. They won the S.M.A. title, and Districts, but were upset in Regionals by Brother Rice. "This season was great. It was the sort of season you dreamed of."

ALMOST THERE

Why do Americans love baseball? "Because it was invented in the U.S. It's unique to us," J.V. player Jake Sarna suggested. Freshman player Brian Bradley had a different idea. "I think it's our national pastime because every age can identify with it."

Baseball players need to be quick and coordinated. "Someone who is a good ball player is willing to play hard and work with the other team members," explained short-stop Chris Caldwell.

Each ball player has a dream. Both Jason Zimmerman and Brian Bradley agree that they'd want to hit the winning homerun. However, Aaron Garrison took his dream one step further, "I'd want to hit the cycle."

Kimball players really enjoy the game, and as Tim Mullin stated, "It keeps me in shape and I like to play."

BATTER UP

What is playing a sport really all about? Of course it is about winning, but what else is in it for an individual? Ask most of the 1992-1993 Varsity Softball team and they will tell you that they loved the team unity. Being a team and playing as a team are two totally different concepts. This softball team not only played like a team, but they won as a team, lost as a team, learned as a team, and they grew as a team, all to achieve their common goal — to win. When they were down, they built each other up. When they lost, they discussed what had happened, bad and good, learned from their loss, and pulled together for the next win. Rachel Juergens told, "When we are doing bad, we all build each other up!" Overall, the Knights finished second in the S.M.A., next to Troy. The team could never have achieved anything without their team unity! They all grew together, and worked together and had a thoroughly enjoyable season.

This year's Junior Varsity team had an overall record of 20 and 2. The girls worked very hard during their games and practices. "Our practices lasted from 3:00 to 5:30," stated freshman softball coach Vicki Hurst. The J.V. softball team had practices from 3:30 to 4:30. "Even though our practices were very short we were always working to better ourselves and the team," said

J.V. player Laura Sage. Kimball won their J.V. S.M.A. tournament by beating their long time rival Berkley High School. "We've been working up to this moment for many years and it is a great pleasure to have finally reached our goal," stated J.V. coach Duane Kimmel. The Kimball High School Tennis team enjoyed another season of matches. Tennis is not as easy as some might think; it takes great endurance. While playing in a game "I had enough will power to make it through a three-set match in really intense heat," states captain Sheel Desai. Not only the heat makes this a grueling sport but also the long practices, usually lasting two to three hours. At practices the players challenge each other to matches so they get a jump ahead of the competition. "Playing 4th singles on varsity, for the first time, and winning," highlighted Alan Brown's career on the tennis team. Tennis may not be easy, but it is rewarding. The satisfaction one gets from playing is immense.

GET TOGETHER

the Kimball girls Varsity Soccer team had good players, good skills, and worked hard together. They ended their season with a record of 6-6, only losing to top ranked teams. With captains Katie Silvio, Katie Sauter, Sheri Fry and Bryn Gibson they pulled together quickly. They played together well, and practiced hard. "The whole team played and practiced with full intensity and it paid off in most of the games," described Alex Hendrick. Because of so many injuries toward the end of the season Tami McKee and Amy Granke were moved up to play on Varsity. Tami McKee tells us how she feels, "I am glad I got moved up! I've learned a lot and played hard." The Kimball Knights ended with a decent record. They tried their best and gave it their all. Next year will surely be a better season and the outcomes will be greater.

KICK IT!

Breakfast at the Big Boy was a great team bonding session before Saturday games,” commented Niki Williams, co-captain of the J.V. soccer team. These breakfasts, along with fun-filled practices and motivational team discussions, were only a few of the events that pulled the Lady Knights together. Coach Mark(Mario) Fresch was very supportive, while Coach Steve Marsh’s soccer knowledge inspired the players.

Brynne Metzger, a fullback with six years of experience claimed, “Mario is definitely the best coach I’ve had. He knew we had a lot of potential, and he did everything he could (and more) to help us win.” Brynne coaches an U-8 soccer team and she agrees with many J.V. players that, “The Seaholm game in the rain was the most memorable. Freshman year, we got psyched for it and lost. We came back the next year and after two long, cold, emotional halves, we walked away with a strong, 2-2 tie.

The 1993 Freshmen team had a lot to show for themselves as well. Joslin Feinauer, a halfback for the Knights, thought the team was full of talented individuals. Their only task was to combine their efforts to create a talented team. “Mr. Evans and Mr. Williams were a great combination of encouragement and intensity. They led us to a more advanced level.”

Goalkeeper Heather Raab was fortunate enough to go back and forth from the Freshmen and the Junior Varsity teams. She noticed that the J.V. coaches ran a more relaxed program, but they performed well and it helped them to cooperate. “I felt welcome when I came up for J.V. games. Everyone made me feel like a part of the team.”

The Freshmen team played an intense, high-pressure game. Their hard work led them to many victories and fast improvement.

Each team had their own philosophy, but what they shared was their determination and togetherness.

Going The Distance

Persistence and hard work go hand and hand with boys track. Every second striving to be the best, to be number one. But track isn't all hard work it's a lot of fun, too. "I really enjoy track," confided Steve Chapman, "the hard work, staying in shape, and all the great people on it makes it even more enjoyable to be a part of." Jason Webster confirmed this by adding, "Even though the practices are long and tough, a big win makes it all worth while."

Despite the fact that track is mainly an individual sport, everyone must support one another to get the job done. In order to achieve a common goal there must also be a mental self discipline. "When preparing for a meet I concentrate on the task at hand and what I need to accomplish," revealed Darrell Hartman.

RUNNING WITH THE WIND

Being competitive is just one adjective that can be used to describe girls track, and that is exactly what track is. When competing one must focus and concentrate completely on what goals are to be accomplished. Setting goals and achieving them is something everyone does on a day to day basis. Depending on what the goal is will show you just how dedicated the person is and what they expect out of themselves. However track is not all work, it is a lot of fun too. "Practices are the best, they are fun for everyone because we don't need to be as serious, as when we are competing at a meet," admitted Stephanie Miller, "but we still work hard."

Girls track, like many sports, is a way to release hidden energy, a way to compete with peers using a natural talent and giving it their all.

"GO BIG V"

Go Blue and Gold" is something you will always hear the Kimball Varsity Cheerleaders saying. It took much dedication and time to prepare for the coming year. The Varsity squad went to Camp Nehalu to practice on their cheers and fundamentals. "Camp was fun and it was worth the hard work," says Brandi Mansfield, one of the four senior captains this year. Along with Brandi, the other captains were Trisha Bilas, Jessica Dykstra, and Holli Bock. "This was the best team I have ever worked with," says Trisha Bilas. "I personally enjoyed the delicious treats that the football players received before our games!" says Nathan Shotwell, who also agreed that the cheerleaders were an important part of their team spirit. The Varsity Cheerleaders definitely create a large part of the spirit at Kimball and have been successful in doing so.

WE'VE GOT SPIRIT

Kimball's got school spirit, thanks to our cheerleaders. Their hard work and determination is what this team is about and they sure show it.

Working well as a team is one rule of a successful cheerleading squad. Teamwork begins in the summer when practice begins. The football season is right around the corner so the girls prepare themselves for a challenging season; this continues through the year for the basketball season.

Angela Gagnon, freshman cheerleader, states, "We practice on Mondays and Wednesdays, and our games are on Tuesdays and Thursdays, so it's a lot of work during the week."

Kimball's cheerleaders are an important part of Kimball and always keep up our school spirit. It's because of these girls our team spirit remains high. So cheerleaders, look forward to many more years of cheering for the fans of Kimball.

HEY BALDY!

“b ald is Beautiful” summarized the football season for Coach Terry

Power’s Kimball Knights.

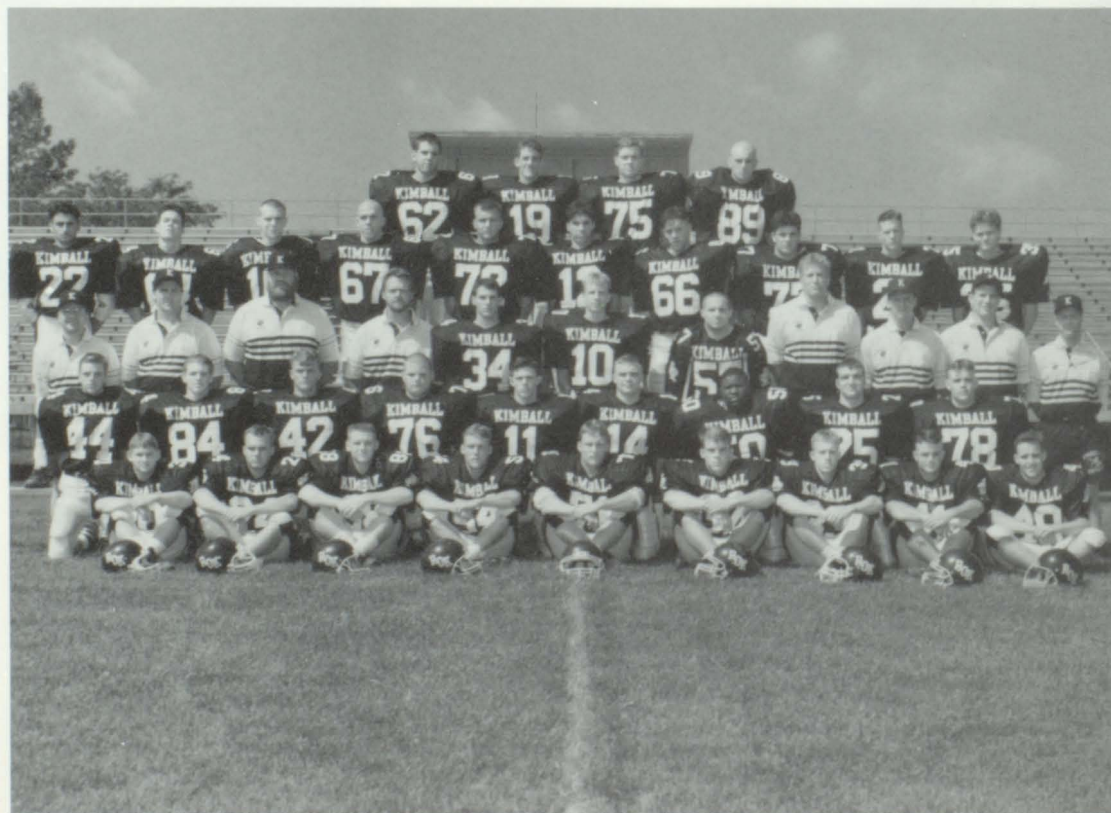

Led by Senior tri-captains Jay Swan, Lou Alfalah, and Phil Carey, the team rumbled past East Detroit with a victory. The Knights got pumped up to face Seaholm in a heated SMA battle. With bald heads, the Knights came out on fire and won 19-16.

The Knights then got back on track, after stumbling with two losses, and carried a 6-2 record into the famous Silverdome game played against crosstown rival Dondero. The Knights dominated and ran the score up to a final of 39-22.

In the state playoffs for the first time in ten years, Kimball came up short against a tough Fraser team. “I was happy that we had a good season, and had a chance to make the state playoffs before I graduated,” said RB/DB Jay Swan.

QUARTERBACK ATTACK

This years J.V. football team was coached by Brian Gordon and Dave Potter and had an overall record of 3 and 6. The freshman team which was coached by Jim Fitzpatrick had an overall record of 4-3 and 2. "We didn't do too well this year, but next year we will show them all," stated J.V. player Brad Long. Many freshman were surprised at the difference between Junior High and high school football. "This year was definitely a lot more challenging then last year. This year definitely proved we can play," stated freshmen player John Ronan. So better luck next year guys!

very unselfish."

"Everyone got along both on and off the court," said Becky Rogers.

MAN ON

The boys' Varsity Soccer team's 1993 season was one of the best seasons they've had in years, with thirteen wins, five ties and only two losses! Excellent leadership by quad-captains Jason McClelland, Demir Muftari, Dan Polsgrove, and Chris Vlaming is only a part of the reason they had such a terrific season. (Always working together striving to achieve a common "goal.") Which is where you would find both goalies Erik Dennis and Ray Hall, sacrificing life and limb to stop every ball shot their way.

What a great way for all of the seniors of the team to leave, with an outstanding season. "I can't believe it is over so soon. It seems like just yesterday that we started our freshman season. It just went by too soon," confided senior player Chris Ahn.

THE NEW AND OLD

the boys JV/Freshman soccer teams had another successful year. This year they worked hard and worked together. "Compared to last year I feel we did better as a team. We learned the plays and carried them out together," stated Matt McCatty, a member of the JV team. The freshman team had a good first season at Kimball. "When I first started playing on the freshmen team I wasn't sure how I would like it," confided Jack Tracy, "but after I got into it I had a lot of fun." The freshman team has many seasons ahead of them and if they keep going in the direction they're headed they promise some very good games. As their junior/senior years creep up on them, the JV players begin to increase their skill as soccer players to the point of making a wonderful team and as they work their way into Varsity they have no way to go but up.

TENNIS ANYONE?

the girls tennis team began with a promising start. Try-outs, held at the end of August, brought a near 50 girls to the courts, with racket in hand, ready to go! By the end of the week varsity coach, Kevin Friesen and J.V. coach, Mike Coyne had their teams determined and had the girls practicing.

The Varsity team had yet another winning season with a remarkable record of 11-3. The highlights this season are not hard to find. Naoko Moore, first singles player, went to States and placed fourth. First doubles team of Traci Garnett and Ann Geisler received the title of SMA champs! First time ever a doubles team has done that well at SMA's.

"All the girls worked really well together. We were all good friends both on and off the court. It was certainly one of the most memorable seasons," said Laura Sage, a third year player.

RUN FOR JOY

the Boys' Cross Country Team got off to a fresh start this year with the help of first year coach and former Kimball runner, Geoff Goolsby. Geoff also ran for Central Michigan University and is currently a world-ranked runner. Consequently, the boys had one of their best seasons in years. In addition, sophomore Drew Gellasch made an outstanding showing at Regionals, only missing the state qualifying time by mere fractions of seconds. For that reason, Regionals will stand out in Drew's mind for years to come. "My most memorable meet was Regionals because I missed states by three-tenths of a second." This season, however, wasn't all full of disappointments for this runner. His times improved and he made lots of new friends on both teams. With Coach Geoff Goolsby, the future looks promising for Boys' Cross Country.

DETERMINATION

*f*riendships made, memories shared, another Girls' Cross Country season passed filled with heartaches, tears, and a lot of smiles. "This season carries memories I will cherish forever," stated senior captain Becky Smith. Other team members also have special memories. "My most memorable race was at Groves," said senior rookie Niki Williams. "It was the first race for Rachael and I. We ran really lousy, but we had a great time!" When people describe Cross Country, enjoyable is rarely the word of choice. While six half-mile intervals aren't exactly a pleasurable way to spend an afternoon, they pay off in the long run in the form of many new friendships and excellent times. "I enjoyed getting in shape," said Cindy Buddrius. So, if you want lifelong friendships and runs all rolled into one, join Girls' Cross Country.

TEE IT UP!

the 1993 Kimball Boys Golf team had a great season. The team didn't start off as well as expected, but finished stronger than any Kimball team has in 17 years. They started off losing their first S.M.A. match to Andover, but the Knights did not give up. The team came back to beat Hazel Park and a tough Ferndale team, and suffered a devastating loss to Berkley and then again to Troy. At the S.M.A. tournament, the Knights showed who was boss. Kimball won the tournament by a large margin, putting them in second place overall. Then the following week at regionals, the team placed second, allowing them to go to the State finals in East Lansing, an experience that will never be forgotten by the team!

The team was led by senior co-captains, Chuck Spenceley and April Holly, senior Joe Barnhart, junior Bryan Jeffrey, sophomores Chris Caldwell and Brad Shepler, and finally the lone freshman, Ben Knight. The team, as seen, is fairly young with a lot of potential, so look out for many exciting golf seasons to come!

ONE, TWO, THREE, BREATHE!

This years Girls Swimming team did outstanding this season. Junior Jill Hanson qualified for the state meet in the 500 yard free and the 100 yard fly. Coach Dale Burr was extremely happy for Jill. "I've always known she could do it, and I stood behind her since the very beginning." Assistant coach Lynn Spencer was also proud of her girls. "I work very hard to teach my girls the basics of swimming and they are a treat to work with." This years captains included Seniors Stephanie Miller, Jennie See, and Ruth Stone. Freshman swimmer Julie Jeffery also known on the team as "Lucy" had a few comments. "I never swam competitively before this year, but I love the team and will definitely be back next year!" Lynnette Foshia, Jill Hanson, Stephanie Miller and Jennie See also competed in the Oakland County Meet swimming the 200 yard free-style relay which is a great accomplishment. So good-bye seniors and good luck to everyone next year.

THE BIG FISH

Kimball Boys Varsity swimming team shed a whole new light down on the Kimball pool this year. With the Senior leadership of Shawn Shultz, Travis Allor, and Brian Guilbault the team showed their strong points and their skill. Senior, and captain Brian Guilbault describes his deep feelings toward the Varsity team this year. "This season has been the most dedicated group of team members that I have ever seen. We had a great time this season and it has certainly made my senior year memorable." Hard work paid off for Brian this year. His dedication took him to State Competition. "At the Class A High School State Meet I placed 17th with a career best time of 54.99 in the 100 yard butterfly." A big congratulations to Brian for doing so well at State. And congratulations and Good luck to next year's Boy's Varsity Swimming.

SPIKE IT

With boys basketball season still in session, the varsity volleyball team made themselves known to the fans and to the rest of the world.

With depth and experience, the Lady Knights ended their season with a record of 34-3-5. The Knights, led by senior co-captains Nicole Zimmerman and Bryn Gibson, fought hard and earned a chance at winning the SMA. Their last game set up a must win situation at home the next day against, who else, Troy. Kimball came out on top and clinched the SMA title in style with a 13-1 record.

"It was the greatest feeling beating Troy and winning the SMA," said senior co-captain Bryn Gibson.

Seniors Amy Forti, Joletta Belton, and April Holly contributed immensely in all of the Kimball wins. Kimball beat Warren Cousino in the first game of districts, but were upset by Fraser in the second game.

SPIKE SQUAD

Volleyball is not an easy sport. It takes a lot of concentration and coordination. To be a good player one needs to be ready to put effort into the game and just as importantly one needs skill. Girls on the Kimball J.V. and Freshman teams worked hard and had just that. "Overall our season was a success, but it was also very suspenseful. We could all get down on ourselves and each other and that led to an inconsistent season," said co-captain Lisa Boledovich. One of the team's strong points was its leadership. Captains Kellie, Lisa, and Lindsay all worked hard to keep the team together. Jennie Polsgrove, a Freshman player is also proud of her team, "We had a fun season and by the end of it we had worked out many of our kinks." Kimball supported all these players and will continue to watch them as they improve.

NEW BEGINNING

the Brady Bunch sang it as "a time for change", and that summarized the year for the Kimball Knights basketball team.

After losing six seniors to graduation, new coach Mike Lewis and assistant Joe Chopps took over the helm. But the spotlight was on senior tri-captains Ahmed Abdullah, Keith Dokho, and Dan Polsgrove. Along with senior Mike Milewski, Kimball utilized their size and quickness to get off to a quick 3-0 start. Also helping out were junior Jeremiah "Jug" Walters on the boards and seniors Mark Gunder and Brent Olson from the trifecta stripe.

"I think that our experience pulled us together, and working as a team helped us win," said senior Aaron Kelley.

"This year's squad has reminded me of a young group of players that played at Michigan two years ago. We can shock the world too," said junior Dave DerKevorkian.

Ball o' Basket at a Glance

Senior captain Ahmed Abdullah's quickness helped win.

Junior Jeremiah Walters, commonly called "Jug", was a power inside.

New head coach Mike Lewis was pleased with the play of his Knights.

Before a home game, the Knights huddle up for a win.

Senior captain Dan Polsgrove's leadership and poise was a major contribution to this year's Knights.

Senior Mark Gunder kept Kimball in a lot of games with his three point touch.

Russ Hlavac was a powerhouse on the Knights' squad. His "outta sight" hook shot intimidated and amazed all.

YOUNG GUNS

"a spiring stars," is what J.V. Point Guard Antoine Taylor calls his team, "We had a lot of talent. Having the same coach and same teammates for two years helped."

Antoine is right — these players had more time to gel, leading them to an SMA title and an astonishing 14-6 season. Ryan Thomas ran up the score board, while Jeremy Davis led the defense. Quick feet, strong team unity, and a loud bench were also key to the J.V. squad's success.

Coach Gordon had a good debut season with the Freshmen. Victory came easily, and team play was the name of the game. Scott Couzens led the offense with his shooting. Many good things are yet to come from these young Knights.

Next year, Kimball's Varsity squad will be looking for a few good men to replace the graduating seniors. With the selection they have to choose from, the season will definitely be a success.

Jeremy Davis was a strong shooter and had the speed the team needed.

Mark Piotrowski demonstrates Kimball's tradition of strength under the boards to score two more.

Coach Fitzpatrick has coached his players for two years and has led them through two successful seasons.

Jason Smith, a center shooting 100% from the three point line, possesses an unusual outside strength.

GYMNASTICS

The girls' gymnastics team has worked considerably hard this year. They practice on the days they don't have meets which is usually on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The team is made up of 16 dedicated members. Rachael Ayotte is a first year member and the only senior. The rest of the team is a majority of freshmen and sophomores.

"The girls have a really good attitude and I enjoy working with them," stated coach Mr. Ewell, "gymnastics is a very competitive sport and takes a lot of practice. Many of the girls that come out are new to the sport and are not familiar with competing while others have been doing gymnastics for years and are a little more familiar with what is involved."

Though this season was not a winning season the girls should be very satisfied with the outcome and the knowledge they have gained.

MAT WARRIORS

this year year resulted in another successful season for the Kimball wrestling team. Led by senior captains Jay Swan and Ken Vogt, the team ended with a 13-4-1 record, third overall in the SMA. "This year's team did exceptionally well for it being a time of rebuilding," stated Jay Swan. "Knowing how young and inexperienced our team was, I am really proud of how well we did," said Ken Vogt. The team placed second at the Marine City Tournament, the Grosse Point North Tournament, and at the Dondero/Kimball Invitational. "Dedication and perseverance are what led us to a great season," explained Jon Hartzell. Coach Castle said, "When a gazelle wakes in the morning, he knows he must outrun the fastest lion to survive. The lion wakes knowing he must outrun the slowest gazelle to eat. We learn that, when you wake up, you better be running."

YEAR IN REVIEW

The NBC Sitcom, "Seinfeld," gained a lot of popularity and received three awards at the Emmy Awards on September 29, 1993. Seinfeld features the comic misadventures of a New York comedian and his friends. "Seinfeld" got recognition as Best Comedy Series and for the supporting actor, Kramer.

The floods that washed across the Midwest may have been the worst in American History, and they captured the concern of the nation. Casualties ranged from thousands left homeless to investors and consumers across the United States.

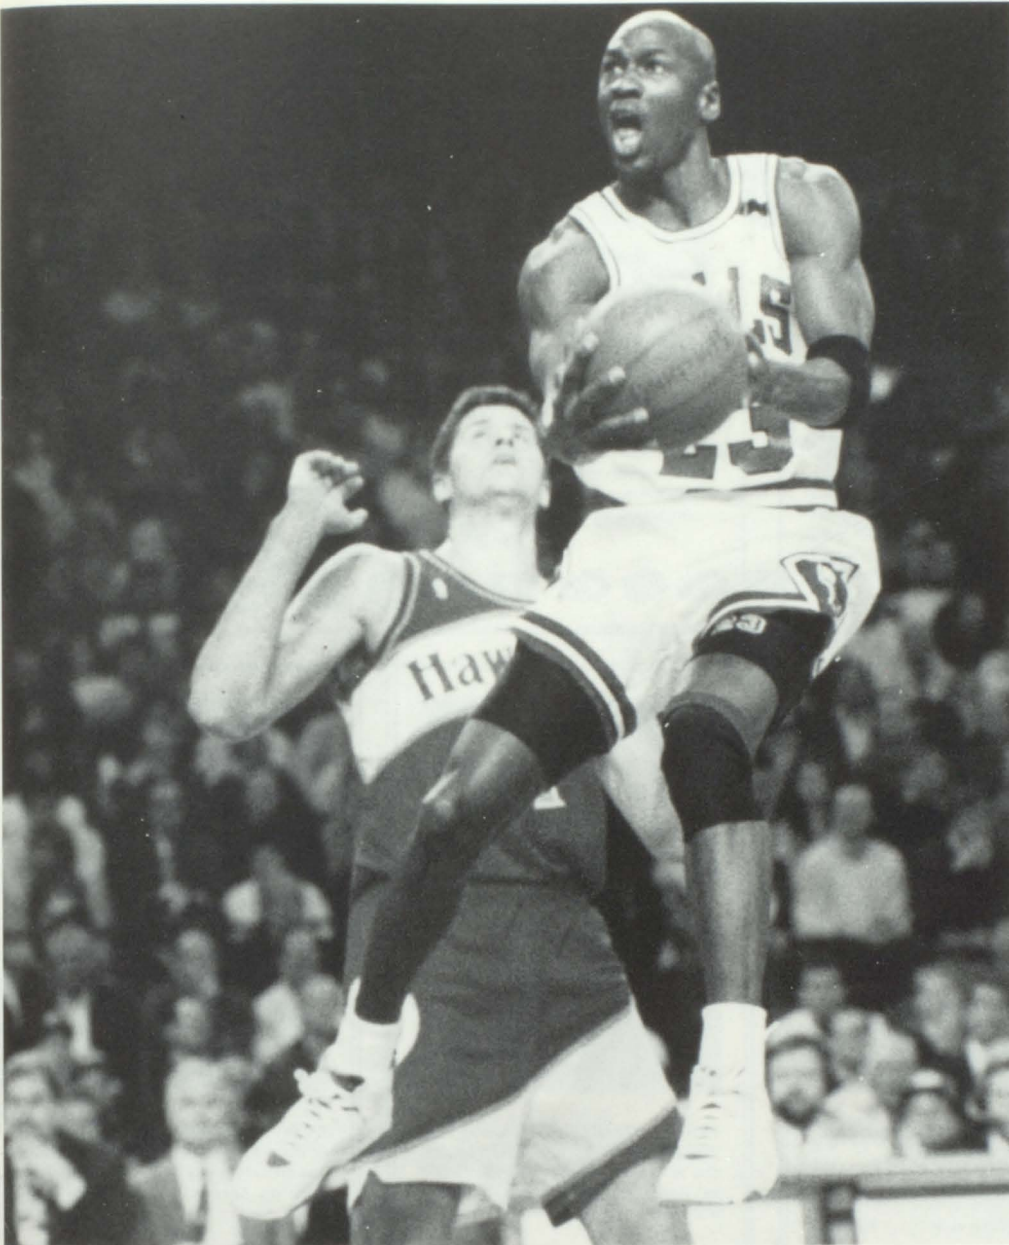

A seemingly unimaginable peace treaty was signed on September 13, 1993 between Rabin's Israel and Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization. President Clinton, who guided this historic handshake, called it a "Great occasion of history and hope."

The world was drawn to Somalia in 1992 by photographs of starving children. In 1993, fighting adults symbolized the difficulty the 33 country United Nations force had coping with a country that had descended into feudalism. A manhunt for the Farah Aidid left 18 Americans and more than 300 Somalis dead.

1993

Michael Jordan, the world's best basketball player, shocked the NBA and its fans with the announcement of his retirement in '93. His departure stripped the league of a breathtaking player who led the NBA in scoring the last seven years.

When an Amtrak train hurtled off a bridge into a bayou in Saraland, Alabama, it plunged its sleeping passengers into a nightmare of fire, water and death. Forty seven passengers were killed in this deadly crash.

THE BEST THING ABOUT 1993...

Chris George-Cypress Hill and House of Pain went on tour.

TANIA RICE-THE CLASS OF '94 IS THINKING OF YOU

Tania Rice was special to everyone who knew her. Tania loved school and was a straight "A" student. She had a lot of school spirit and attended many football games and every dance since she was a freshman. Tania enjoyed drawing, shopping and especially boy-watching. Tania competed in the Michigan Sports Games for 5 years and gained her varsity letter by doing so. Tania once expressed that her greatest fear was not being here long enough to graduate from high school or college. School meant a great deal to Tania. The class of 1994 remembers this special person and she remains in our hearts as we graduate. Tania Rice will be greatly missed.

Tania Rice (1976-1992)

*We were friends for quite a while
I truly miss her bright, white smile.
We were friends for nine long years.
I'll always remember,
The laughter, jokes and tears.
She was always nice to be around.
I never had a reason to frown,
When I did she asked me why,
Thinking of her, makes me cry.
I wish I would have Told her more,
Before she entered heaven's door.
Paul Leisner*

HONORABLE MENTION

The product of hard work of Kimball's athletic director, Chuck Jones, surrounds Kimball. This year he has gained some well deserved recognition. Mr. Jones has recently received the following awards: 1992-93 Michigan Athletic Director of the Year, which was selected through the National High School Coaches Association, and the 1993 Distinguished Service Award, given by the National Interscholastic Athletic Administrators. Chuck Jones has been a contributor to Kimball as its athletic director for 30 years now, and for 12 years as the district athletic director. Chuck Jones is described as a pleasure to have known by many whose lives he's touched. The athletes, teachers and coaches here at Kimball have witnessed this great worker for years and salute him in this honorary time.

"Chuck Jones has done a lot for the athletic program. He's a great guy to work with."

Kimball High Retirees

Those who have influenced us and touched
our lives

Mrs. Mildred Fry has been the Kimball High School secretary for sixteen years. She first worked for Mr. Steinhart in the Personnel Office. In November of 1979, she worked for Mr. Light and then she was transferred to the school's main office. She worked as a receptionist and a switch board operator. "Working that board was really much more fun than answering phones today," says Mrs. Fry with a big smile on her face! In September of '85, she started working for the counseling office and was again the main secretary for the counselors. This was a very rewarding experience for Mrs. Fry. Mrs. Fry also states that the Student Service Center has changed completely since she started working there. "Of course many of the teachers have changed, not to mention the building!" Mrs. Fry plans on enjoying the time she will have off.

Mrs. Mildred Fry

Mr. Thomas Trese also plans on enjoying his life after he retires from his social worker position at Kimball. It's been fifteen years that Mr. Trese has been working at Kimball High. Before he came to Kimball, Mr. Trese worked in the Catholic Social Services for ten years. He has dealt with many different kinds of problems and situations. He has helped families with Special Education children, inner self-esteem problems, suicidal and emotional conflicts, and physically impaired children. He notices society's problems are becoming much bigger and harder to deal with. He will miss the many friends he has formed throughout his years at Kimball High School. He exclaimed, "I will miss the rapport of the students and the staff!" Mr. Trese plans on spending more of his time with his eight sons, nine daughters, and his lovely wife.

Mr. Thomas Trese

It was in 1964 that Mr. Ron Foster began his history at Kimball High. Mr. Foster attended Indiana State University and majored in mathematics. He was a teacher of math for a number of years. He then became part of the Administrative Staff. As he was teaching, he taught some of our very own personnel such as: Mr. Don Brownie and Mr. Art Watson. Over the years there have been many changes in Kimball High School. "I've noticed kids are starting to dress much better," Mr. Foster. "I will miss the fantastic kids and cooperative parents along with the superintendents, staff, administration, Mr. Neville, and of course the athletics," adds Mr. Foster. Mr. Foster plans on traveling and playing a lot of GOLF!

Mr. Ron Foster

In 1982, Mrs. Lee MacKay started her career as attendance secretary in the Student Service Center. Two years later, she began her present position as a Child Accounting Secretary. For Mrs. MacKay, it has been a continuing challenge keeping accurate records, registering new students, the numerous other duties involved in her job. Having a positive attitude and good public relation skills makes her job much easier. "Seeing the progress of the students each semester makes it all worth while. I will miss that along with the wonderful support I have had from the staff and many friends I have made during my school career at Kimball High," explains Mrs. MacKay. With her time off, she's planning on traveling and getting back into oil painting!

School Credit Union Opens Its Doors For Students' Use.

A new addition was added on to Kimball High School this year. The Royal Oak Credit Union placed a branch inside of the school for the students' use. Students can use this credit union between the hours of 11:15 a.m.-1:00 p.m. Tellers work inside the credit union to help the students with their needs. "I think it's a good idea," said Audra Thompson. "It's helpful for the students." Throughout the year representatives went to classrooms to speak about the credit union. Students passing through the hallway throughout the year saw the construction and opening of the credit union. The system here at Kimball is similar to the credit union system outside of Kimball. Next year the credit union would like to help the students with the costs of high school life. Students with a credit union account would qualify for discounts on special occasions. It's not too late to establish an account with the credit union so see your local representative for more information.

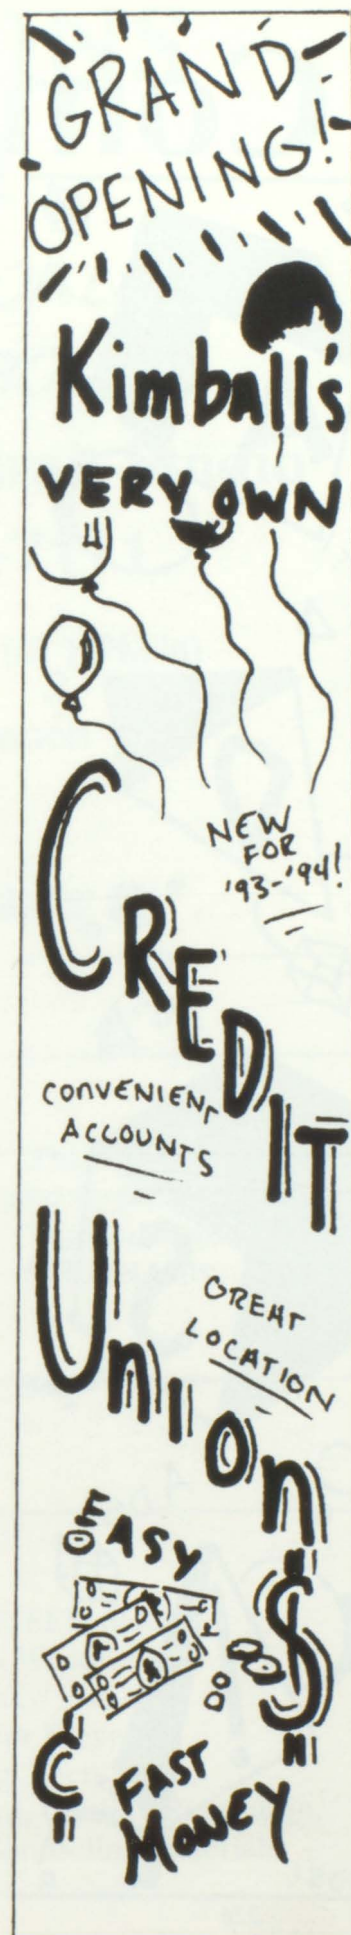

Debbie Snelling gets ready to help students during their lunch hours.

Tina Dix and Joel DeShane enjoy the opening ceremony of the Credit Union at Kimball.

Lou Alfalah and Ahmed Abdullah take a break during the grand opening of the Credit Union.

We've cropped, quoted and complained our way through year another Kimball Yearbook, and lived to tell. Lancer has a lot of dreams this year (Pagemaker), yet reality (deadlines) is what really made this book. Congratulations and thanks to Mrs. Wine and all the staff, you've done a great job. To all the editors, I think we will go down in history as one of the most obnoxious yet hard-working teams ever. Good luck next year to everyone, especially the seniors .... and good-bye to the class that will do anything for candy!

Courtney Castle
Editor in Chief

I thought I was going to have it easy this year as Copy Editor ... I was dead wrong. Between, deadlines, proofreading, cropping and designing layouts, I had my hands full. I want to thank all of the staff members for everything. I came onto Lancer looking for a place to make some friends fast, I did. Courtney, April, Ginny (Jenny), and Kim, big girls you are the greatest! Courtney-we survived! Thank you to all of the staff for being patient with us, it was rough, but we got through it. Mrs. Wine, you have been more than an Advisor to me. Thank you for listening and understanding. But for now I'm signing off ...

Destination: To be a Sparty!

What a year! I thought this book would never see completion. We all worked hard, what a headache! This book was the root of my stress, I felt like I had a million things to do all due the next day! I survived though, and now can look back and laugh! I would like to give the staff a special "thank you." To my fellow editors: Thanks girls, I don't think it was supposed to be this hard, but, we got a beautiful book out of it. To Mrs. Wine: You just can't please everyone no matter how hard you try, but you did the closest to it! I'm going to miss this place one day. Good luck to all!

In all honesty, I feel writing this is rather silly considering I'd be surprised if people actually read these. Being Resident Artist was in fact, a lot of work, but I did enjoy the job. Being on staff for three years I learned that Mrs. Wine is the only person I could ever consider having as my advisor and has truly become more than just a teacher to me. I appreciate her and the entire staff puttin up with my grief. To my girls: You were all that and a bag of chips as fellow editors. Sayonara for now.

*Kimberley Regan
Resident Artist*

When Mrs. Wine said anyone who wanted to be photo editor had to be a strong willed and responsible person, I had no idea what I was getting into. Even though I love the job, it has been no picnic. I now have a real sense of human nature and how people really are. For this I thank Mrs. Wine. Being photo editor, I feel, has been the ultimate learning experience of my high school career. But, even more demanding, were my peers. This year's staff had it going on, with only one male (my man Cramton) on staff. We will definitely go down in history as the last great Lancer staff. And that's a "True Story!"
